City Sewer Rate Increase Proposed

Finance Program Offered

BeVier Cites Low Cost Here

A proposal that Mansfield's sewer rates be raised to finance a 10-year sewer improvement program to cost $1,000,000 was made by Sanitary Engineer B. V. BeVier at a meeting of the sewer committee of city council last night.

Although BeVier mentioned no specific figure in proposing the rate increase, he pointed out that the Mansfield minimum rate of $2 a year is one of the three lowest in the states.

"The average minimum in the state is $4 a year," he pointed out," and many cities charge $6."

BeVier outlined the improvement program on this basis:

1. Construction of 50 miles of sanitary sewers to service areas within the city limits which are not served at present.

2. Repair or rebuild sewers in many areas, including Wolfe avenue, Gibson avenue, and Dickson parkway.

CREW OVERWORKED

"The reconstruction, repair and maintenance work is beyond the capacity of the 11 men and a foreman now employed by the street department for the work," BeVier said, indicating additional help is needed.

He did not elaborate on this point, although several councilmen hastened to point out that the city will not get enough competent help unless it is willing to pay higher wages.

BeVier proposed that the city purchase three pieces of heavy equipment to use in excavating work. He suggested purchase of a bulldozer, and a steam shovel, and sewer digger at an estimated cost of $26,000.

He said it would be cheaper in the end for the city to own its own equipment than to rent it from contractors.

Council's sewer committee didn't act on either of BeVier's proposals but agreed to hold a special meeting, probably April 23, to discuss the possibility of getting the equipment and how much money will be needed for the big sewer program.

Councilman Charles Shultz, chairman of the finance committee, said "We haven't done anything about the sewers for a long time and it's about time that we get started."

SEWER NEED CITED

Councilman Harry Hollingsworth pointed to the urgency of the sewer rehabilitation program, adding that basements that have never been flooded were flooded by the recent heavy rain that backed sanitary sewer water into basements.

BeVier pointed out that the excavating equipment could be used by the water, sewer and street departments.

Although the city has contracted with R. O. Darling to supply the city with certain types of heavy construction equipment, that firm is so tied up with other work that it cannot do the city work, city spokesmen said.

Service-Safety Director E. L. Morgan explained after the meeting that the city can get equipment if it goes out into the open market to get the heavy machinery that will be needed for the sewer program.

Plane Crash Inquiry Ends

BERLIN —(AP)— A British-Russian investigation of the fatal crash of a British and a Soviet plane April 5 was abandoned today when Russians on the investigating commission failed to appear.

The investigation was doomed yesterday when the Russians refused to hear German and American witnesses.

After waiting 15 minutes for the Russians, the British proceeded with their own inquiry.

Lewis Enters Plea of Not Guilty

Bulletin

The two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Oswalt of North Liberty was burned to death about noon today when a kitchen kerosene stove exploded. Fire destroyed the family's home. Mrs. Oswalt was taken to the Mt. Vernon hospital and another son, Charles, 4, was brought to Mansfield General hospital. Attendants described his condition as good despite first and second degree burns.

Taft Pushes For Vote On Housing Bill

Wisconsin Senator Opposes Measure

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The Senate opens debate today on the $5,000,000,000 Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill aimed at providing 7,500,000 new homes in five years.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), brought up the measure today. Its public housing provisions are expected to run into opposition spearheaded by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), who opposed them vigorously in the Senate Banking committee.

Private housing would be given the impetus of federal insurance of $1,600,000,000 worth of FHA home mortgages, plus $1,000,000,000 for yield insurance to bring big investors into the apartment field.

For slum clearance this bill would authorize $1,000,000,000 in loans to cities, plus $0,000,000 yearly in subsidies for five years.

For low rent housing subsidies would range from $32,000,000 in the 1949 fiscal year to $160,000,000 in 1953 and thereafter.

As much as a half billion dollars would be authorized for loans through the secondary mortgage market which the bill would establish to purchase GI and FHA mortgages from areas in which private financing is not available to carry them

'Kika' Story Draws Kicks At College

GAMBIER —(AP)— Publication of a short story about an adolescent in love with a high school girl has caused suspension of Kika, quarterly student literary magazine at Kenyon college.

The magazine's editorial board also was discharged.

Kenyon President Gordon K. Chalmers and Dean Frank Bailey said today they considered the story improper and in bad taste. It was written by Walter Elder of Springfield, a graduate student

The three on the editorial board, whose discharge does not affect their standing as students, are Oscar Williams of Newport News, Va., John Kirby of Washington, D. C., and Cameron MacAuley of Grand Rapids, Mich.

The magazine has only a campus circulation. Kenyon, a college of approximately 600 students, is affiliated with the Protestant Episcopal church.

Sub Cable Laid In Manila Harbor

MANILA—(AP)—The Philippine naval patrol, which recently sighted an unidentified submarine off Luzon island, announced today that anti-submarine cables have been laid across the entrance to Manila bay.

The announcement was directed to fishing vessels, which were prohibited from anchoring near the cables.

Dismissal Refused By Judge

Contempt Charge Evidence Given

WASHINGTON — (AP) — John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers today pleaded innocent of contempt of court in the coal strike.

Their formal plea of "not guilty" was made after District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough overruled a motion by Welly K. Hopkins, Lewis' attorney, to dismiss the contempt citation.

Hopkins cited the telegrams Lewis sent to idle miners Monday telling them to go back to work.

He argued they showed Lewis had complied with a court order served April 5 to call off the strike.

Lewis has insisted that he never called a strike — that it was a "voluntary cessation" of work.

Immediately after Lewis pleaded "not guilty," the government began presenting evidence

Government lawyers gave out a list of six witnesses, some of them obviously designed to show the seriousness of the coal strike during the last four weeks.

AGREEMENT REACHED

Lewis' back-to-work order of Monday followed an agreement granting $100 monthly pensions to miners over age 62 The miners were out for a week after the court order for Lewis to end the strike was served.

Fourteen minutes before the 10 o'clock trial hour, Lewis walked into the court room accompanied by eight attorneys and several United Mine Workers officials.

About half the 400,000 miners have gone back to work. Many were waiting to see how Lewis comes out in this second encounter with Goldsborough.

It was Goldsborough who fined Lewis $10,000 personally and the union $3,500,000 on Dec. 4, 1946, because they ignored a court order to end a strike. The fines were for contempt. The Supreme court later cut the union's fine to $700,000.

A federal judge can impose almost any penalty, in fine or imprisonment, for contempt. There is no legal limit

The government opened its case by introducing in evidence the various official documents in the coal strike.

Conference Again Open

BOGOTA, Colombia— (INS) — The Inter-American conference, interrupted Friday by the Colombian revolt, resumed sessions today in a suburb of battle-seared Bogota.

Delegates will go back to work, significantly, on Pan-American day despite continued sporadic firing by snipers in the Colombian capital.

Colombian troops cruised the streets in tanks to comb out the last nests of snipers and generally had the situation under control

Troops took swift action late yesterday when the announcement saying the conference will be continued was greeted with outbursts of new firing by snipers throughout the city.

The first session of the resumed parley will be held in a suburban school.

The decision to continue the parley was reached after delegates of the U. S., Argentina and Brazil pressed for its continuance at a meeting held in the Honduras legation.

Plans were cancelled for solemn ceremonies this morning in the brilliant Plaza Bolivar commemorating the memory of Liberator Simon Bolivar.

BUS FRANCHISE GRANTED

CONNEAUT —(AP)— The Conneaut Bus company today held a 15-year franchise granted by city council. It was the first contract awarded in local history, although bus licensing laws have been in city code books for the last 30 years.

FIRST VOTE—First voters, like 21-year-old Marilyn Henderson of Omaha, helped Harold Stassen win the presidential preference primary in Nebraska yesterday. Voters there had a choice of seven candidates for the Republican nomination.

Question Referred to Columbus

'Bills of Materials' Stymie TB Board

Just what are bills of material? That question stymied the Richland county tuberculosis sanatorium building commission last night.

Prosecutor Theodore Lutz insisted that "bills of materials" consist of itemized accounts of the various materials that will go into the proposed 84-bed $700,000 building.

Architect Herbert S. Jones had a different opinion. "My contention is that the bills of materials are right there," he said, pointing to the drawings for the proposed project.

Jones said he could prepare an itemized list of the materials, but that he didn't know if he could get it out even in 30 days. He said he was ready to do whatever the commission ordered.

Dr. John S. Hattery, commission chairman, then offered the suggestion that commission members go to Columbus to consult with officials.

'LET'S FIND OUT'

"Lutz has given out the (law) book's opinion. If they're tolerating certain practices, let's find out how they're doing it," he said.

Dr. Paul A. Stoodt agreed. "Let's go where we can find the final answer."

After considerable wrangling, the commission instructed the architect to contact Columbus and find out about "bills of material."

Jones said he would call the Columbus officials today, and if necessary make a trip there. Dr. Hattery said he would call a meeting as soon as Jones obtains an answer

Others present at the meeting were County Commissioner Guy Stewart, Attorney John C O'Donnell, and C. J. Stecker, members of the building commission, and Auditor Norman L. Wolfe, the commission's clerk. County commissioners John W. Selby and C. L. Shoup, members of the building commission, were absent.

Bigger Army Force Urged

WASHINGTON —(AP)—An army ground force of 12 regular combat divisions was recommended today by General Omar N. Bradley as the smallest the nation can safely afford.

The chief of staff said the 12 divisions should be backed up by six more from the National Guard and Organized Reserves.

He testified before the House armed services committee on a draft bill which would boost the army's total strength from 542,000 men to 782,000.

Bradley, who commanded in Europe the largest American armies of history, took issue with testimony given yesterday by Air Secretary Symington.

In response to questions, Symington said he regards an air force of 70 combat groups as more important to the nation's security than universal training.

"There is no relationship between the 70-group program and UMT," Bradley said "The alternative to UMT is not 70 groups, 170 groups, or 1,000 groups

"The alternative to UMT if we are to have the barest type of security is a standing army big enough to carry the army portion of a war burden for one year until mobilization can be effected. This would require at least 25 divisions initially ,or about 1,500,000 men, and would cost many billions annually."

Business Activity on Uptrend

Money Moves Fast In City

Another dollars-and-cents indication of the ever-increasing business activity in Mansfield came today in a report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland.

It disclosed that money drawn from Mansfield commercial bank accounts during March for payrolls, purchase of materials and other business transactions totalled $41,529,000, an increase of 22.1 percent over March 1947.

The average percentage increase over March 1947 in the 30 major cities in the fourth Federal reserve district was only 13.4. Mansfield ranked fifth in the list of 30 Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania cities.

For the first three months of 1948, $118,145,000 was withdrawn from Mansfield commercial accounts for industrial payrolls, material purchases and all other needs.

This represents a 20.4 percent increas over the first three months over last year. The average for the 30 cities was only 10.1 percent.

Hundreds Homeless In Flood

Ohio River On Rampage

(By United Press)

The swollen, muddy Ohio river rampaged over its course in Ohio today endangering the life and property of thousands. Hundreds of persons fled their homes in the worst flood since 1945.

Units of the Ohio National Guard went into action at two widely separated points. Over 100 families were being evacuated at Manchester by the national guard. Marietta, the business district was expected to be completely under water late today.

Two refugee shelters at Marietta were set up by the Red Cross and the national guard patrolled the river and evacuated families as U. S. engineers anticipated a stage of 44 to 45 feet before the crest is reached. Flood stage in this historic city is 40 feet.

The river stage at Cincinnati was 55.7 feet and the Ohio was still rising. Flood stage in the Queen City is 52 feet and the Red Cross estimated that over 6,000 persons would be affected when the river reaches 60 feet. A rise to 59 feet was predicted by late tonight.

AID CENTERS OPENED

Red Cross disaster centers were being set up all along the Ohio river from Marietta, O., to Louisville, Ky., Eastern Area Disaster Director Ralph Bain reported from Cincinnati.

The state highway patrol reported that several cities were temporarily isolated in southern Ohio but that highway conditions

Italian Red Foes Gaining

ROME —(AP)— The authoritative morning newspaper Il Messaggero predicted today that Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Christian Democrats would finish well ahead of the communists in Sunday's elections.

Although rightist in its sympathies, Il Messaggero has maintained strict impartiality in its news columns through the campaign, printing speeches of all candidates. In that policy it has been almost alone among Rome papers.

Communists heckled and shouted at de Gasperi yesterday in Milan and there were fist fights and cracked heads as police moved into the crowd, swinging clubs.

Late last night a caravan of trucks and buses taking Christian Democrats home from the Milan meeting was stoned by leftists near San Giuliano Milanese. Two persons were hurt seriously, 50 suffered minor injuries. There also were disorders at Pesaro, Bologna and Venice.

Rooms Needed For Athletes

Harry Mehock, founder-director of the Relays, appealed today to athletic fans to provide free sleeping rooms for the track athletes coming to Mansfield Friday and Saturday for the Relays.

"We'll probably need rooms for 125 youngsters, one or two to a home. Mansfielders have always provided rooms for the 'kids' free of charge and given them a free breakfast the next morning," Mehock explained.

Persons with rooms may call Earl Troll at 4131-6 or 6935-3.

Track Meet Canceled

Mansfield Senior high's scheduled track and field meet at Lorain this afternoon was called off at noon today by the Lorain high school officials. The Lorain track is under water.

Highway Damage Heavy

Heavy flood damage to Richland county's roads today brought a warning from County Engineer Walter E. Rusk to motorists to "drive with care and caution."

"The damage is much worse than we expected," Rusk said, returning from a survey of the county road system. "We've gone over the entire county and there's hardly a road in the southern part that doesn't need some kind of repair."

"The engineer said damage from the nearly three inches of rainfall since Sunday includes five roads closed and one street closed. Three small culverts were washed out last night in a flash rain storm in the southern section of the county.

Roads closed include three in Jefferson township, one in Worthington, and one in Bloominggrove township. Wash-out of the Union street bridge in Butler Sunday night halted traffic over the thoroughfare.

"Most of the dangerous places should be repaired in two or three weeks with favorable weather," Rusk stated. "Other damage caused by the recent rains will put us behind a month with repair work."

Previously scheduled for completion in June, repair work may now extend into July, Rusk said.

Little damage, except to roads and bridges, was reported today in the Mansfield area as the result of the heavy rains since Sunday.

SCHOOL REOPENS

The Bellville school reopened after the threat of rising water closed it yesterday.

Extensive damage was reported in the Lakeville area where Lake O'Dell is overflowing.

Rainfall totaling .96 of an inch last night was reported by the CAA weather station in Mansfield. The additional precipitation brought the total since Sunday to nearly three inches. Up to last night 1.92 inches of rain had fallen.

Rain was predicted tonight throughout the state, giving way to clearing skies and mild temperatures Thursday. Temperature at noon today was 46 degrees.

Labor Law Backers Win

CHICAGO—(UP)—Labor unions lost their fight today in the Illinois primary to whip congressmen who voted for the Taft-Hartley law.

All of the state's 21 incumbent congressmen were renominated even though many were opposed by labor groups and all were seeking candidacies in new districts under the reapportionment mapped out last year.

Gov. Dwight H. Green was unopposed for the Republican nomination and Adlai Stevenson, one of the U. S. founders of the United Nations, also had a clear field for the Democratic nomination.

Illinois will elect 25 congressmen in November, 13 from the metropolitan Cook and Lake counties and 13 from downstate under the new apportionment. Previously, the state elected 10 from upstate, 15 downstate, and one from the state at large.

Labor had endorsed opponents of all Republican incumbent congressmen except Rep. C. W. Bishop, who was the only GOP Republican congressman to vote against the Taft-Hartley law.

Comic Books Under Fire

DETROIT —(AP)— Piles of comic books were under police scrutiny today after Commissioner Harry S. Toy charged they contained liberal doses of communists propaganda, racial prejudice and sexy and gory reading.

Toy read two confiscated cartoon books recently; then ordered others seized and assigned two "red squad police teams to investigate the matter.

2nd Place Spot Goes To Dewey

Vote Outcome Hurts Ohioan

OMAHA — (AP) —Tireless Harold E. Stassen lifted himself into the top rank of Republican presidential candidates today with a sweeping victory in Nebraska's GOP primary.

His clear-cut win clubbed Gov. Thomas E Dewey of New York into political submission for the second week in a row. Dewey was shut out in the April 6 Wisconsin primary when Stassen won 19 of the state's 27 nominating votes.

The former Minnesota governor's victory bashed the prestige of Senator Robert A. Taft. It built new fires under the good-man-but-can't-win theory that has dogged the Taft campaign.

It all but snuffed out the dying hopes of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's supporters.

But it left intact the darkhorse possibilities of Senator Arthur Vandenberg, secure in fourth place in a race he spurned.

The count in yesterday's free-for-all primary from 1,701 of the state's 2,024 precincts was: Stassen 68,129, Dewey 53,755, Taft 17,393, Vandenberg 7,504, MacArthur 5,742, Gov. Earl Warren of California 1,484, and House Speaker Joseph Martin 783.

Taft Disappointed, Not Discouraged

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) today expressed disappointment at his defeat in the Nebraska preferential primary election but declared his belief that he will deliver a setback to Harold E. Stassen in the Ohio primary May 4

Taft said:

"I am naturally disappointed about the primary results in Nebraska but shall always be deeply grateful to Sen. Butler and so many others who supported me there so loyally.

"Of course, Gov. Dewey carried the state in 1940 and Mr. Stassen in 1944 and it is evident we were too optimistic in thinking that a long time strength could be upset by four days campaigning in a distant state.

"The return engagement in Ohio on May 4 will produce the opposite results."

Along with his victory in the free-for-all popularity contest, Stassen wrapped up as a 41st birthday present the almost certain support of the state's 15 delegates on the first nominating ballot at Philadelphia.

DELEGATES FREE

The delegates are not bound by the popular vote, but most of the candidates said before the election that they would abide by the voters' wishes.

These convention delegates were elected in a primary that saw the Democrats choose a 12-vote delegation for President Truman, running unopposed.

Republicans renominated Senator Kenneth Wheery, acting GOP Senate leader, and Gov. Val Peterson. Democrats gave a long lead to former Rep. Terry Carpenter for their senatorial nomination. Frank Sorrell was unopposed for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

But it was Stassen, the untiring young fellow from Minnesota, who rode off with the political glory in a state where he himself had thought the outcome so doubtful he made only cautious pre-vote predictions of victory.

Stassen sent the Republican organization headed by Senator Hugh Butler (R-Neb) down to its worst defeat

Taft, supported by the Butler group, never had a chance. He trailed in all but one of the state's 93 counties.

Death Ruled 'Accidental'

LORAIN—(INS)—Lorain authorities ruled as "accidental" late yesterday the death of Mrs. Frances Leonard, 39-year-old Lorain woman, and ordered the release of Alex Lengyel.

The 19-year-old youth, only witness to the fatal shooting, maintained throughout the police investigation that Mrs. Leonard was wounded when the gun which they were examining accidentally discharged.

Lorain City Prosecutor Austin O'Toole announced that "after a thorough and complete investigation" is was decided Lengyel was blameless. Mrs. Leonard, a widow two years, was found shot through the head early last Wednesday by her 12-year-old son, David.

Mansfield Relays Field Swells to 543

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

AUGIE MORNINGSTAR, the boss man of Senior high athletics, has been a popular figure on the "mashed potato" circuit since coming to Mansfield last fall. . . . Augie tells us he has made at least 90 appearances before church groups, booster clubs, Boy Scouts, service clubs etc. . . . On more than half of the speaking stops, Augie exhibited motion pictures of 1947 Tyger football games. . . . Vern Hoffman, Tyger basketball coach, was the prinicipal speaker at the Amherst high school basketball banquet last night. . . . He started his coaching career at Amherst 20 years ago. . . . It's too bad that a school the size of Shelby had to shelve its spring sports program for a fall-time pastime—football. . . . The Whippets will have a golf team, but baseball and track, two very important phases of a worthwhile athletic program, have been discarded. . . . Shelby has more coaches than most schools and could do a fine job in spring sports. . . . Other schools that have spring football also find time for the spring activities. . . . Sure Shelby has 180 boys playing on three grid squads this spring but the whole thing lasts only four weeks.

★

"DON'T BLAME Otto Graham for quarterbacking mistakes. We call the plays from the bench," Paul Brown, coach of the Cleveland Browns, stated yesterday. . . . Graham's looping passes used to worry Paul when he first saw Otto toss 'em. . . . Brown always believed in hard flat passes but "I changed my mind when Otto kept hitting the receivers." . . . Ollie Cline, the Fredericktown flash, will be used as No. 3 fullback by the Browns. . . . Paul expects Marion Motley and Tony Adamle to remain in the top two spots.

★

CLEVELAND Indian baseball games will be broadcast over station WATG-FM, Ashland, this summer. . . . The Tribe opens against the St. Louis Browns in Cleveland next Tuesday. . . . When Eddie Stanky moved to Boston, Eddie Miksis was supposed to make the Dodger officials forget Stanky. . . . His play has only made them forget Miksis. . . . Joe Louis fought 91 rounds of boxing on his exhibition tour of Europe. . . . Joe plans to go into politics, after fighting Jersey Joe Walcott.

Lorain Star Leads In ABC

DETROIT — (AP) — The 80-day American Bowling congress took on a trans-Pacific air today as teams from Hawaii and Alaska got ready to take to the alleys.

Custodians of the "Top 10" boards got a workout yesterday as four major changes occurred

Topping the parade was Tony Pompien of Lorain O., who shot 1,955 to move into the lead in the all-events class. He averaged 217.2 for the nine game test.

At the same time, Pompein teamed with Hank Andorka for fifth place in the doubles with 1,270.

Burton Price, 24-year-old Dearborn bowler, came down from the ABC scoreboard where he has been working since the tournament opened and rolled a 702 to take sixth place in the singles

17 Schools Enter Big Meet Today

Competitive interest in the 17th annual Mansfield Relays Friday and Saturday gained impetus this morning when 17 additional schools submitted entry lists for the big track and field carnival.

The 17 schools, including two from Pennsylvania, entered 281 boys to swell the field to 35 schools and 543 individuals. Founder-Director Harry Mehock hopes for 60 schools and approximately 1,000 youngsters.

The first out-of-state entries are New Castle, Pa., and Ambridge, Pa. New Castle, a team which finished tenth in the 1947 Relays, entered 23 boys while Ambridge will be represented by Richard Rytel. He won the western Pennsylvania state championship in the mile last year.

LARGEST ENTRY

East Palestine sent in a roster of 40 boys, largest single entry of the meet.

Remainder of today's entries include: Cleveland West Tech 24, Harpster 9, Campbell Memorial 6, Barberton 18, Brewster 7, Oberlin 12, Cleveland Central 28, Toledo Clay 2, Cleveland East Tech 39, Warren Harding 9, Akron Garfield 23, Caledonia 6, Akron North 27, and Louisville 10.

Cleveland Central was second last year, East Tech came in third and Akron North finished sixth.

Packer Raps 616; Hilborn Gathers 653

A pair of brilliant series, one at Richland and one at Colony, marked last night's bowling as the pin smashers moved toward the finish of the winter campaigns.

At Richland, one of the rare 600 series was scored with Packer slamming a 243 middle game, sandwiched around 186 and 187 for a 616 total as Independent Towel swept the set from Penn Auto and Sporting Goods. Packer had added aid from Yarman the middle game as Yarman belted a 222 game and had 536 for the night.

Shooting in the Elks league at the Colony, Art Hilborn started off with 192 and 183 and then hit a booming 278 third game and rocketed his score to 653 for the night. Hilborn's big game, and a rather fat 223 handicap, gave the Hoofs a 1,103 third game to beat the Eyes' 1,027 score

★

Other good scores in the Elks league were turned in by Harold Seeley with 568, Paul Herlihy with 557, McIntire with 556, Treisch with 190, 220 and 174 for 584, Anthony 546, and Leo Arntz with 542.

Big Seven League May Again Shine In Kansas Relays

LAWRENCE, Kas. —(UP)— The Big Seven conference is expected to make its usual successful raid on Kansas relays championships in the 23d running of the track and field carnival Saturday.

But Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace is considered an almost sure thing in the 120-yard high hurdles, but Missouri's Bud Gartiser, conference indoor record hurdler, could make a race of it.

Sports Center To Sponsor 2 Junior Teams

Sponsor list for the Mansfield Hot Stove league's junior baseball program now numbers nine, Stan Kamen, secretary-treasurer of the group, announced today.

Vern Jones of the Ohio Sports Center will back teams in the Junior and Major leagues. The Junior loop is for boys 13-14-15 years of age while the Major circuits is for lads in the 16-17-18 bracket.

The Hot Stovers need three more sponsors to complete the list for the top two leagues. The Elementary league will be formed among Mansfield's ten grade schools. Several of the grade school clubs also will be uniformed.

Other sponsors are: Sons of Herman, Exchange club, Marine Corps league, Fred Rizzo, Fraternal Order of Police, Yuncker Sports and Mansfield Grays.

The Hot Stovers will furnish bats, balls, bases and catcher's equipment. Any organization or individual desiring to sponsor a team may contact Kamen at 3391-L.

Solinger Signs With Cleveland

CLEVELAND —(INS)—Bob Solinger, sensational rookie of the Cleveland Barons, will remain with the American hockey league, champions for the 1948-49 season.

The blond left winger yesterday signed a Cleveland contract for next winter. Several national league teams were reported to be after Solinger and estimates on what they might pay him ran as high as $50,000

Akron Sending Powerful Teams

AKRON—One of the strongest contingents in recent years will represent Akron high schools in the Mansfield relays Saturday.

Among the schools expected to send teams are East, North, Buchtel, South, Garfield, and Barberton. Central may send some individual performess.

East and North are expected to field strong teams, since they are annually among the best in northeastern Ohio. They have completely dominated the Akron picture for the past eight years.

North's four-time state championship cross country team is back almost intact, which means it will be strong in the distance events.

Among the best performers are Don Chisam, Jackson Wagner, and Robert Mains. Each is capable of running the mile in less than 4:48. Chisam turned in a 4:42 effort last week. Coach Bob White is expected to enter them in the four mile relay Friday.

Chisam also is a first class half miler, placing fourth in the state last year. His best time this year is 2:05. Chisam's closest rival is Bob Boxler from East. The boys are evenly matched in the mile, although Chisam maintains a slight edge in the half.

In the hurdle events is where East probably will shine Bill Simmons, who captured both the high and lows last year, is back, and as good as ever. He turned in a 15:15 effort in the highs last week.

In the field events, the strength is more evenly divided among the Akron schools.

SEVEN VAULTERS

There are seven boys in the city who are capable of 11'4 inches in the pole vault. Last Saturday, Bob Phelps, a sophomore from Buchtel, broke the unofficial city record. He leaped 11'8", but had to in order to beat Allen Sveda of Akron South.

These two boys and Tony Esola, and Bill Webb, of East; and Dick Mains and Marv Crosten of North make up a good sextet.

The shot put is another event which the Rubber city should shine. From neighboring Barberton comes Bob Toneff, huge all-Ohio football tackle. He has been consistently over 50 feet in practice all season. Dominic Babbo of North hit 49'5" in a dual meet last week. Babbo also throws the discus about 130 feet.

Greenberg Shifts 'Office' From Dugout to First Base

TOPEKA, Kan.—(AP)—Hank Greenberg, the big stick and swivel chair man, may become the first "playing vice president" in baseball history at the Cleveland Indians' opener next Tuesday.

The veteran home run slugger, who has insisted he would play "only in an emergency," was faced with that emergency in the ranks of his chattels today as the injury plague hit the Tribe.

Eddie Robinson, a key man in the Tribe's 1948 pennant hopes, was lost from the Indians' first base roster last night when he took a plane to Cleveland for examination and treatment of an injured right foot. Robinson and the sub first sacker, Elbie Fletcher, have only two good feet between them at the moment, for Fletcher also is crippled with a bruised left foot.

Indians' Manager Lou Boudreau immediately put through an emergency call to Greenberg's "front office" — the Cleveland dugout. The versatile executive-player-coach, who wants to scrape his spikes on a mahogany desk instead of home plate, protected his stockholder's interest by starting two rallies in Cleveland's 7-2 victory over the New York Giants yesterday.

OPENS WITH WALK

V. P. Greenberg's walks opened a four-run spree in the fourth frame and a three-run rally in the fifth, and Hank trotted home with two important runs in his quest to increase the value of his Tribe stock.

Greenberg has been in tip-top condition for his "trouble shooter" role—and Boudreau plans to keep him that way. Hank was slated to park his high-priced heels on the initial sack here today, at Evansville, Ind., tomorrow and Owensboro, Ky., Friday. He will be ready, he says, if Robinson is unable to start next Tuesday.

However, Boudreau joined Greenberg in the home that Hank could continue his duties on the mahogany, instead of the willow, after the season opens.

That "other starting pitcher" Manager Lou Boudreau and Bill Veeck have been searching for could very easily be Gene Bearden, who held the Giants to five hits in seven innings.

The Californian had a shutout going into the seventh frame, but three successive singles and his own fumble of a bunt accounted for two runs, only one of which was earned.

Columbus Opener To Have Feminine Touch

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The Columbus Red Birds' traditional opening day ceremony will have a feminine touch this year.

Club officials announced today that Ohio's first lady, Mrs. Thomas J. Herbert, will throw out the first ball as the Red Birds open their American Association season against Milwaukee April 15.

Cleveland's Pennant Hopes Rest On Outfield

Pitching, Infield Certain To Make Tribe Flag Threat

By LEO H. PETERSEN

NEW YORK—(UP)—The Cleveland Indians are being touted as the team which could surprise them all in the 1948 American league pennant race.

An airtight infield and a strong pitching staff headed by Bob Feller appears to assure the Indians of a first division berth and there are a lot of baseball men who feel that the club has been strengthened to such extent that it is a definite pennant threat.

It all depends on the outfielders. There are eight men in camp battling for the three jobs. Three of them may be what the doctor ordered to correct the garden weakness which prevented the Indians from finishing higher than fourth place last year.

LOU BOUDREAU

BOUDREAU NOT WORRIED

Manager Lou Boudreau, however, does not appear worried about his outfield. He blamed the Indians' failure to do better last season on their lack of fundamentals. He may have something there, but the lack of heavy hitting outfielders also was a definite handicap to his 1947 club.

The three men who may give the outfield the shot in the arm it needs are Walt Judnich, acquired from the Browns; Al Clark, who came to the Indians from the Yankees, and Larry Doby, the Negro who was converted into an outfielder.

Although he hit only .258 with the Browns last year when he divided his time between first base and the outfield, Judnich appears sure to open the season as the Tribe's center fielder. Dale Mitchell, who hit .316 to lead the Tribe outfield offensive last year, probably will open in left with Hank Edwards, who has been plagued with injuries the last two seasons in right.

DOBY A SURPRISE

But Doby, Clark, Hal Peck, Pat Seerey and Thurman Tucker are still very much in the picture. Doby has been the spring surprise of the club. When Boudreau shifted him to the garden he figured he would send the Negro out for a year of minor league seasoning, but he clouted the ball at such a clip and learned the fine arts of outfield play so quickly he is sure to stick with a club at least until the May 20 deadline.

Seerey still hits that long ball but strikes out too much, while Clark, who hit .334 with Newark last year and .373 in 24 games with the Yankees, was considered such a promising prospect that the Indians gave up one of their front line hurlers, Red Embree, for him.

The infield will feature the best shortstop-second base combination in baseball. For all-round excellence as a shortstop, Boudreau has no peer in the game today and Joe Gordon doesn't have to take a back seat to any second baseman in the league.

At first it will be Ed Robinson to open the season, but if he falters, either Elbie Fletcher or Hank Greenberg, the part-owner, player-coach, will be ready to take over. Veteran Ken Keltner has looked better than ever this spring and will be at third.

That leaves Johnny Berardino, one of the better infielders in the league while with the Browns last year, out in the cold. But he will be ready to step in if one of the regulars should need aid.

LACK RESERVE CATCHING

It could all add up to the best infield in the business.

The Indians lack catching depth. After Jim Hegan, the No. 1 man, the club has only four rookies, all of whom may be a year or so away. The most promising of them is Joe Tipton, who hit .376 with Wilkes-Barre last year.

Boudreau believes he solved all his pitching troubles when he landed Russ Christopher from the Athletics. He will divide relief chores with Ed Klieman, the rescue ace of the club for the past two years.

Feller, Don Black, Bob Lemon, Bob Muncrief and either Steve Gromek or Al Gettel will be the regular starters with the veteran Les Webber and two rookies, Gene Bearden, a 16-game winner with Oakland last year, Charles Wensloff, purchased from the Yankees, and Bob Kuzava, a 14-game winner from Baltimore, and former Mansfield coach, fighting for the other jobs on the staff.

Softball Loops Draw 19 Clubs For 1948 Play

Nineteen teams have already expressed interest in Mansfield softball leagues this summer.

Six of the teams will compete in the Industrial league. They are: Farm Tools, Ideal Electric, Dominion Electric, Humphryes, Mansfield Tire and Rubber and Tappan Stove.

Other teams follow: Greystone, Ritz Nite club, Sons of Herman, Penn Auto-Sporting Goods, Ohio Sports Center, Komito's Clothes, Yuncker Sports, Johns park, Prospect park, Amvets club, American Veterans Committee, Moose lodge and American Legion Post 72.

Entry blanks are available at the recreation department or phone 3391-1 and Stan Kamen will mail you a blank. Leogue play will open May 17.

★

A meeting of team managers will be held April 22 at the YMCA gym.

★

Two important rule changes are listed this year.

Pitchers will be permitted to wear the same color uniforms as the rest of the team and the bases will be 60 instead of 55 feet.

Susie Q. Smith . . . .

"But I can't use the vacuum, Mom . . . it spoils the music!"

American Association Opens Baseball Season Tomorrow

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The American association, a triple-A baseball league which depends on the changing whims of major league parents for talent, opens the season tomorrow with three clubs assured of top-flight strength.

The other five teams must scramble with what they have until May 15 when the major league teams are expected to shower power in their direction.

Indianapolis, Louisville and Milwaukee were the favored trio expected to battle for the top spot, at least for the first month. The riddled pennant winner of 1947, Kansas City, will be rated lucky if it hangs on in the first division.

Manager Dick Bartell of the Blues, who succeeded Bill Meyer, lost all but four regulars from the flag winner.

New Tyger Clubbers To Be Elected

Five new members of the board of directors will be elected at tomorrow's track-football meeting of the Tyger booster club at Senior high school.

Nominated for the five open positions are: Pete Zeides, Bill Daugherty, Luther McCally, John Schroeder and R. L. "Sandy" Creveling. McCally is now a leading member of the John Simpson booster club and is vice president of the Hot Stove league.

Retiring members of the board are: Ed Channell, president; Norm Wolfe, Joe Blahnik, Dr. D. A. Weir and Howard L. Pollock. Holdover members are: Roscoe McGinty, Don "Buck" Weaver, Earl Troll and Sherm Wentz.

Other board members may be nominated from the floor at tomorrow's meeting which will start at 7:30 p. m.

Harry Mehock, founder-director of the Mansfield Relays, and Augie Morningstar, Tyger athletic director, will speak. They will discuss the 17th annual Relays Saturday and the Senior high spring football game Friday night at Arlin field.

Mike Byelene, new Bengal backfield coach, will be introduced at the meeting.

Morningstar announced today that the football game would be postponed Friday night in the event of bad weather. In that case, the affair will be played Wednesday, april 21.

Spring practice will not end until April 24.

Dickson Hurls 5-Hit Shutout

HOUSTON, Tex.—(U.P.)—Adding a five-hit shutout to his no-hitter, little Murry Dickson today loomed as the number one pitcher on the St. Louis Cardinals' staff.

The short right-hander, who held the world champion New York Yankees without a single bingle two weeks ago, had his curve ball dancing yesterday when he blanked the Chicago Cubs, 4-0.

★

DURHAM, N. C. — (U.P.) — The final game of the spring series between the Cincinnati Reds and the Boston Red Sox, in which the Reds lead four games to two, was scheduled for today at Roanoke, Virginia.

Everett (Red) Lively was picked to pitch for Cincinnati and Dave (Boo) Ferriss for Boston.

The Reds beat the Sox here yesterday, 8 to 6, as Frankie Baumholtz made three hits and stole two bases. Southpaw Mickey Harris of Boston was forced out of the game when he was struck by a line single during the Reds' four-run rally in the third inning.

★

ANDERSON, S. C. —(U.P.)— Joe Kuhel, manager of the Washington Senators, was faced with a $100 fine today for being tossed out of yesterday's game against the Philadelphia Phils.

Kuhel wasn't around at the end of the game as his team ended a three-game losing streak with a 7-4 win. He was ejected by Umpire Bill Stewart for alleged bench-jockeying, which carries the automatic $100 penalty.

★

ATLANTA, Ga. — (U.P.) — The Philadelphia Athletics beat the Atlanta Crackers yesterday, 6-0, behind the fine four-hit pitching of Southpaw Lou Brissie. The rookie hurler struck out five batters and walked only one.

★

WICHITA FALLS, Tex.—(U.P.)—Sam Zoldak, a candidate to hurl the opening game of the season for the St. Louis Browns, strengthened his bid for that job yesterday when he combined with Cliff Fannin to beat the Wichita Falls club, 10-2.

Centennial Celebrations Fail to Aid Gold Output

GRASS VALLEY, Calif.—Here in the heart of the famous Mother Lode country, where they are celebrating the 100th anniversary of the discovery of gold in California, there is little gayety among the men in the business of digging the precious metal out of the earth.

Mine operators in general are a glum lot, in striking contrast to the exuberance of "centennial year" celebrants who are reliving the early history of the west at festivals being held in the old mining camp towns of this fabulous region.

"There is still lots of gold in the hills," states one gold mine executive here. "But it's hardly worth the trouble to go after it. Our industry is experiencing a depression in the midst of national prosperity. Where our mine used to net about $5 a ton of ore handled, now we are lucky to make 20 cents."

Gold in the ground goes begging because its price is inflexible, set at $35 an ounce by the United States Treasury. There has been no inflation in the price of the yellow metal since 1933. And there is no prospect of an upward revision in price, according to government officials, despite foreign bids as high as $60 an ounce in the Far East, despite the Canadian government's new policy of paying $7 an ounce bonus on production in excess of that of a base period.

RUSSIA HAS 'A' BOMB—Testifying before the House armed services committee, Defense Secretary James Forrestal declares that Russia possesses the secret of the atomic bomb but has not yet been able to manufacture it.

Trieste's Return to Italian Rule Rejected By Russians

Soviet Note Terms Plan Undesirable

Reply Broadcast By Moscow Radio

LONDON —(AP)— Russia has turned down the western power proposal to give Trieste back to Italy, Moscow radio announced last night.

A Soviet note terming the suggestion unacceptable was delivered to the governments of Britain, France and the United States yesterday, the broadcast said.

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault of France first broached the idea publicly in a speech at Turin, Italy, on March 21. It was hailed frankly at the time as a bid for anti-communist support in the Italian elections next Sunday.

The proposal called for a Paris meeting of the powers principally concerned early in May to consider the future of Trieste.

Yesterday's Soviet note, the broadcast said, pointed out that Trieste was created a free city and territory by the Italian peace treaty, signed by 21 nations, including the Big Four. It said revision of the treaty by means of "correspondence or by convening private conferences" is unacceptable and violates "elemental principles of democracy."

ANSWERS REQUEST

The note was in response to formal U. S.-British-French suggestions on Trieste made to Russia in notes on March 20 and reiterated last Friday with an urgent request for action.

Among other things, the Russian action apparently ruled out a Yugoslav suggestion that Italy and Yugoslavia get together on Trieste's future.

It was primarily because of Yugoslavia's insistent fight that Trieste was made a free territory in the peace treaty. Yugoslavia had the full backing of Russia in its demand that Trieste be made a Yugoslav city. The free territory emerged as a compromise.

Shortly after the new western power proposal was made, Yugoslavia made a tentative offer to swap the free territory of Trieste to Italy for the nearby Italian city of Gorizia. Italy turned that down.

The governmental affairs of the free territory are thoroughly tangled. Under the peace treaty the United Nations security council was to appoint a governor, but has been deadlocked for months and unable to get together on a candidate.

The territory—430 square miles and 330,000 people—now is occupied by British and American troops in one zone and by Yugoslav forces in the other.

Anderson Heads P-TA

John J. Anderson was elected president of Carpenter school P-TA last night at the annual business session. Other officers named were John Enderle, vice president; Rhea Doolittle, secretary, and R. C. Salsbury, treasurer.

Routine business was conducted by the retiring president, C. M. Ross. It was voted to purchase American flags for the Brownie and Girl Scout troops of the school. Discussion was held on the annual lawn fete to be held the last of May. Albert Benson was named general chairman.

Committee members are considering the purchase of basketball uniforms and world study books for the school.

At the close of the business meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. John Watkins and her committee. Fifty were in attendance.

City Receives Insurance Bids

The Lumbermens Mutual insurance agency submitted the lowest of three bids opened at the city building at noon today for furnishing fire, theft, comprehensive loss and damage insurance on 68 city motor vehicles. The yearly premium quoted was $632.52.

Only the Tracy and Massa Insurance agency bid on providing the city with fire and extended coverage insurance for $169,000 worth of city property. That company asked a premium of $1,281 annually.

Other bids received for the motor vehicle insurance came from the Stanton-Wallington firm which offered the insurance at $706 and the Frank H. Leavitt agency which asked $808.85 as the yearly premium.

Ohio River On Rampage

were changing rapidly and it was impossible to list isolated cities.

Water began covering the business district of Pomeroy and business firms moved merchandise and records. The New York Central railroad loaded all machinery out of its Hobson shops on box cars.

No crest was in sight for the city where heavy rainfall continued last night. Observers said the river probably will climb another 10 feet there today. The stage—48.1—was .9 of an inch over flood level at Pomeroy early today and will cover all of the business section when the water hits 50 feet.

Ripley, O., emergency Red Cross headquarters reported the flood stage passed in Manchester, Aberdeen, Rome, Higginsport, Levanna, Neville, New Richmond, Point Pleasant, Moscow, Ripley and other Ohio river communities. Relief headquarters were set up in all the cities.

Although hundreds of families fled their homes in the Portsmouth area, officials hoped to keep the water out of the city even if the Ohio strikes a 68-foot level. The million dollar flood wall will be bolstered with sandbags.

In Columbus, Navy officials at Port Columbus said three amphibious planes would be used to race to the rescue of beleaguered river families if the need arose.

F. A. Voegele Rites Today

Pallbearers for funeral services for Frank Albert Voegele which were to be held today at 3 p. m. at the St. Matthew's Lutheran church were members of the church council, Charles Woods, Merle Pittenger, Lawrence Meeker, Carlton Overmyer, Kenneth Pendleton, Roger Roser, Lyman Moore and Carl Shambaugh.

Honorary pallbearers were C. F. Ackerman, H. G. Brunner, Fred G. Black, E. B. Kallinerten, C. C. Beelman, Stanley Knapp, Dr. R. R. Black, Albert Benson, Fred Voegele, Henry Voegele, Gaylord Bahl jr., and John Jundt.

The Jones Memorial was overflowing today with the hundreds of floral tributes sent by Mr. Voegele's friends and business associates here. Hundreds of persons called to pay their final respects to the Mansfield business man and civic leader.

Trustees, Clerks To Meet Tonight

Quarterly meeting of the Richland County Association of Township Trustees and Clerks will be held at 8 p. m. today in the common pleas court room at the courthouse.

Main speaker for the session will be Joe Thomas of Hayesville, president of the Ohio Trustees and Clerks' association.

Some Stock Leaders Beat Retreat In Slow Session

NEW YORK —(AP)— Selected leaders retreated in today's stock market although changes were generally narrow and some issues showed slight gains.

Aircraft shares continued to improve. Dealings slowed somewhat after a moderately active opening. Near midday small advances and declines were widely distributed.

Commission houses attributed many selling orders to belief further corrective moves were called for by the list's long advance, and to a "wait-and-see" attitude on the Italian election and domestic wage-price relationships.

Costa Rican Revolt Quiet

(By Associated Press)

Costa Rica's six-weeks-old civil war seemed to be boiling down to a finish and a rebel victory—today.

Reports were heard in Guatemala that the rebel chieftain, Jose Figueres, has set up a provisional government in Cartago, the country's second largest city, 30 miles southeast of Jose, the capital.

The U. S. State department in Washington was advised last night that San Jose is endangered by the revolters and that a house-to-house defense of the capital is expected. San Jose's population is about 68,000.

There are no dispatches direct from Costa Rica because of censorship.

Wilmington Students Will Help Build New Dormitory

WILMINGTON —(INS)— If you want something done, do it yourself.

That old adage was put to good use Tuesday by 600 Wilmington college students who need a new man's dormitory. They pledged the labor themselves and started out to begin construction of the new dorm which will hold 75 men.

The students also were following the example set 75 years ago when the college's first student body built much of the original college building.

Both men and women students "pitched in" to dig foundation trenches, mix cement, lay block and brick, do finishing and painting. Architects planned the construction as simply as possible in order that unskilled student labor may do a good job.

Dr. Samuel D. Marble, 32-year-old Wilmington college president, hailed the spirit of cooperation, the enthusiasm and the willingness of the students to give their time in the construction work.

Clear Property Title Sought

A petition seeking a clear title to the Friendly House site on North Main street was filed today in common pleas court.

Brought by the Mansfield Friendly House association against the Mansfield Christian Endeavor Union, a dissolved corporation, the petition asks that the defendant be required to set up any claim or interest in the site.

The petition asks that sale of the property be authorized by the court and that the plaintiff be authorized to use the proceeds from the sale for the construction of a new Friendly House building and purchase of equipment.

The Friendly House site was donated to the association in 1914 by the CE union.

Youth Asks Counsel

Hearing of a case involving a charge of probation violation against William Ellsworth Smith, 21, South Main street, was continued in common pleas court today when Smith requested legal counsel.

Ralph Hughes, court bailiff, said the case probably will be heard later this week, depending on jury case schedules.

Smith is held in connection with the theft of the car of Hobart C. Kyner, 589 Crescent road, on March 30. The youth later was identified by Kyner at General hospital where Smith was treated for a broken arm. Kyner said he found his car three hours after the theft in front of his house and that a youth, appearing to be Smith, walked out of a Crescent road home and got into the parked car.

Kyner gave chase but lost the youth in the Overlook road vicinity.

Hughes said Smith has been on probation since Jan. 28 for stealing a car in Mansfield and wrecking it later in Parma where it damaged three other autos.

The mother, Mrs. Roxie Lucille Baker, was found injured in her home early Wednesday. She died Friday in a Dover hospital and Coroner D. M. Ceramella said she died of head injuries.

Prosecutor Vernon Lee of Tuscarawas county said:

"Except to Dr. Ceramella's brief statement regarding the woman's death, other details of his autopsy on her body will be kept secret until the trial. I plan to keep the autopsy in my confidential files until that time."

An Outstanding Year in Metropolitan's History

"1947 was one of the best years in the history of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

"The Company's financial position was excellent. More Metropolitan policyholders than ever before enjoyed the blessings of life insurance. Through investments, the Company played a bigger role than in any preceding year in helping to keep the wheels of industry turning . . . to provide jobs and homes . . . and to maintain high standards of living.

"However, the year was not without its problems. Insurance costs were higher because of lower interest rates, and because of the prevalent increase in the cost of goods and services."

President Leroy A. Lincoln reported these facts in his account of the Company's 1947 activities in a motion picture entitled "Pages From An Open Book." Here are some other important facts about 1947 presented by Mr. Lincoln:

—Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries totalled $671,000,000—topping all records.

—More than 2,300,000 people bought Metropolitan policies during the year. The total of Metropolitan policyholders reached 32,384,000.

—At the year-end, policyholders owned a total of $37,250,000,000 of Metropolitan protection—the greatest amount in the Company's history.

—Metropolitan will pay in 1948 somewhat more in dividends to policyholders than in 1947, although there will be downward adjustments for certain classes of business.

Mr. Lincoln also reported that last year a committee representing all State Insurance Departments completed, as required by law, a periodic examination of Metropolitan. In their conclusions, the examiners reported:

"The examination of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company indicates that it is in a sound financial condition."

"Policy claims are paid promptly, and fair and equitable treatment has been accorded the policyholders."

Metropolitan's Annual Report for 1947, which is entitled "Pages From An Open Book," contains much additional information about the Company's operations. If you would like to have this booklet, fill in and mail the coupon below. A copy will be sent to you without charge.

Trieste's Return to Italian Rule Rejected By Russians

Soviet Note Terms Plan Undesirable

Reply Broadcast By Moscow Radio

LONDON —(AP)— Russia has turned down the western power proposal to give Trieste back to Italy, Moscow radio announced last night.

A Soviet note terming the suggestion unacceptable was delivered to the governments of Britain, France and the United States yesterday, the broadcast said.

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault of France first broached the idea publicly in a speech at Turin, Italy, on March 21. It was hailed frankly at the time as a bid for anti-communist support in the Italian elections next Sunday.

The proposal called for a Paris meeting of the powers principally concerned early in May to consider the future of Trieste.

Yesterday's Soviet note, the broadcast said, pointed out that Trieste was created a free city and territory by the Italian peace treaty, signed by 21 nations, including the Big Four. It said revision of the treaty by means of "correspondence or by convening private conferences" is unacceptable and violates "elemental principles of democracy."

ANSWERS REQUEST

The note was in response to formal U. S.-British-French suggestions on Trieste made to Russia in notes on March 20 and reiterated last Friday with an urgent request for action.

Among other things, the Russian action apparently ruled out a Yugoslav suggestion that Italy and Yugoslavia get together on Trieste's future.

It was primarily because of Yugoslavia's insistent fight that Trieste was made a free territory in the peace treaty. Yugoslavia had the full backing of Russia in its demand that Trieste be made a Yugoslav city. The free territory emerged as a compromise.

Shortly after the new western power proposal was made, Yugoslavia made a tentative offer to swap the free territory of Trieste to Italy for the nearby Italian city of Gorizia, Italy turned that down.

The governmental affairs of the free territory are thoroughly tangled. Under the peace treaty the United Nations security council was to appoint a governor, but has been deadlocked for months and unable to get together on a candidate.

The territory—430 square miles and 330,000 people—now is occupied by British and American troops in one zone and by Yugoslav forces in the other.

Anderson Heads P-TA

John J. Anderson was elected president of Carpenter school P-TA last night at the annual business session. Other officers named were John Enderle, vice president; Rhea Doolittle, secretary, and R. C Salsbury, treasurer.

Routine business was conducted by the retiring president, C. M. Ross. It was voted to purchase American flags for the Brownie and Girl Scout troops of the school. Discussion was held on the annual lawn fete to be held the last of May. Albert Benson was named general chairman.

Committee members are considering the purchase of basketball uniforms and world study books for the school.

At the close of the business meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. John Watkins and her committee. Fifty were in attendance.

City Receives Insurance Bids

The Lumbermens Mutual insurance agency submitted the lowest of three bids opened at the city building at noon today for furnishing fire, theft comprehensive loss and damage insurance on 68 city motor vehicles. The yearly premium quoted was $632.52.

Only the Tracy and Massa Insurance agency bid on providing the city with fire and extended coverage insurance for $169,000 worth of city property. That company asked a premium of $1,281 annually.

Other bids received for the motor vehicle insurance came from the Staaton-Wallington firm which offered the insurance at $706 and the Frank H. Leavitt agency which asked $808.83 as the yearly premium.

Ohio River On Rampage

were changing rapidly and it was impossible to list isolated cities.

Water began covering the business district of Pomeroy and business firms moved merchandise and records. The New York Central railroad loaded all machinery out of its Hobson shops on box cars.

No crest was in sight for the city where heavy rainfall continued last night. Observers said the river probably will climb another 10 feet there today. The stage—48.1—was .9 of an inch over flood level at Pomeroy early today and will cover all of the business section when the water hits 50 feet.

Ripley, O., emergency Red Cross headquarters reported the flood stage passed in Manchester, Aberdeen, Rome, Higginsport, Levanna, Neville, New Richmond, Point Pleasant, Moscow, Ripley and other Ohio river communities. Relief headquarters were set up in all the cities.

Although hundreds of families fled their homes in the Portsmouth area, officials hoped to keep the water out of the city even if the Ohio strikes a 68-foot level. The million dollar flood wall will be bolstered with sandbags.

In Columbus, Navy officials at Port Columbus said three amphibious planes would be used to race to the rescue of beleaguered river families if the need arose.

F. A. Voegele Rites Today

Pallbearers for funeral services for Frank Albert Voegele which were to be held today at 3 p. m. at the St. Matthew's Lutheran church were members of the church council, Charles Woods, Merle Pittenger, Lawrence Meeker, Carlton Overmyer, Kenneth Pendleton, Roger Roser, Lyman Moore and Carl Shambaugh.

Honorary pallbearers were C. F. Ackerman, H G. Brunner, Fred G. Black, E. B. Kallmerten, C. C. Beelman, Stanley Knapp, Dr. R. R. Black, Albert Benson, Fred Voegele, Henry Voegele, Gaylord Bahl jr., and John Jundt.

The Jones Memorial was overflowing today with the hundreds of floral tributes sent by Mr. Voegele's friends and business associates here. Hundreds of persons called to pay their final respects to the Mansfield business man and civic leader.

Some Stock Leaders Beat Retreat In Slow Session

NEW YORK —(AP)— Selected leaders retreated in today's stock market although changes were generally narrow and some issues showed slight gains.

Aircraft shares continued to improve. Dealings slowed somewhat after a moderately active opening. Near midday small advances and declines were widely distributed.

Commission houses attributed many selling orders to belief further corrective moves were called for by the list's long advance, and to a "wait-and-see" attitude on the Italian election and domestic wage-price relationships.

Costa Rican Revolt Quiet

(By Associated Press)

Costa Rica's six-weeks-old civil war seemed to be boiling down to a finish—and a rebel victory—today.

Reports were heard in Guatemala that the rebel chieftain, Jose Figueres, has set up a provisional government in Cartago, the country's second largest city, 30 miles southeast of Jose, the capital.

The U. S. State department in Washington was advised last night that San Jose is endangered by the revolters and that a house-to-house defense of the capital is expected. San Jose's population is about 68,000.

There are no dispatches direct from Costa Rica because of censorship.

Wilmington Students Will Help Build New Dormitory

WILMINGTON —(INS)— If you want something done, do it yourself.

That old adage was put to good use Tuesday by 600 Wilmington college students who need a new man's dormitory. They pledged the labor themselves and started out to begin construction of the new dorm which will hold 75 men.

The students also were following the example set 75 years ago when the college's first student body built much of the original college building.

Both men and women students "pitched in" to dig foundation trenches, mix cement, lay block and brick, do finishing and painting. Architects planned the construction as simply as possible in order that unskilled student labor may do a good job.

Dr. Samuel D. Marble, 32-year-old Wilmington college president, hailed the spirit of cooperation, the enthusiasm and the willingness of the students to give their time in the construction work.

Clear Property Title Sought

A petition seeking a clear title to the Friendly House site on North Main street was filed today in common pleas court.

Brought by the Mansfield Friendly House association against the Mansfield Christian Endeavor Union, a dissolved corporation, the petition asks that the defendant be required to set up any claim or interest in the site.

The petition asks that sale of the property be authorized by the court and that the plaintiff be authorized to use the proceeds from the sale for the construction of a new Friendly House building and purchase of equipment.

The Friendly House site was donated to the association in 1914 by the CE union.

Youth Asks Counsel

Hearing of a case involving a charge of probation violation against William Ellsworth Smith, 21, South Main street, was continued in common pleas court today when Smith requested legal counsel.

Ralph Hughes, court bailiff, said the case probably will be heard later this week, depending on jury case schedules.

Smith is held in connection with the theft of the car of Hobart C. Kyner, 589 Crescent road, on March 30. The youth later was identified by Kyner at General hospital where Smith was treated for a broken arm. Kyner said he found his car three hours after the theft in front of his house and that a youth, appearing to be Smith, walked out of a Crescent road home and got into the parked car.

Kyner gave chase but lost the youth in the Overlook road vicinity.

Hughes said Smith has been on probation since Jan. 28 for stealing a car in Mansfield and wrecking it later in Parma where it damaged three other autos.

Ohioan Held For Murder

DOVER —(AP)— Authorities held a 33-year-old prize fight promoter without bond under a first degree murder charge today in the death of a 19-year-old mother.

The mother, Mrs. Roxie Lucille Baker, was found injured in her home early Wednesday. She died Friday in a Dover hospital and Coroner D. M. Ceramella said she died of head injuries.

Prosecutor Vernon Lee of Tuscarawas county said:

"Except to Dr. Ceramella's brief statement regarding the woman's death, other details of his autopsy on her body will be kept secret until the trial. I plan to keep the autopsy in my confidential files until that time."

An Outstanding Year in Metropolitan's History

"1947 was one of the best years in the history of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

"The Company's financial position was excellent. More Metropolitan policyholders than ever before enjoyed the blessings of life insurance Through investments, the Company played a bigger role than in any preceding year in helping to keep the wheels of industry turning . . to provide jobs and homes . and to maintain high standards of living

"However, the year was not without its problems. Insurance costs were higher because of lower interest rates, and because of the prevalent increase in the cost of goods and services"

President Leroy A Lincoln reported these facts in his account of the Company's 1947 activities in a motion picture entitled "Pages From An Open Book" Here are some other important facts about 1947 presented by Mr Lincoln.

—Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries totalled $671,000 000—topping all records

—More than 2,300,000 people bought Metropolitan policies during the year The total of Metropolitan policyholders reached 32,384,000

—At the year-end, policyholders owned a total of $37,250,000,000 of Metropolitan protection—the greatest amount in the Company's history

—Metropolitan will pay in 1948 somewhat more in dividends to policyholders than in 1947, although there will be downward adjustments for certain classes of business

Mr Lincoln also reported that last year a committee representing all State Insurance Departments completed, as required by law, a periodic examination of Metropolitan In their conclusions, the examiners reported.

"The examination of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company indicates that it is in a sound financial condition"

"Policy claims are paid promptly, and fair and equitable treatment has been accorded the policyholders"

Metropolitan's Annual Report for 1947, which is entitled "Pages From An Open Book," contains much additional information about the Company's operations If you would like to have this booklet, fill in and mail the coupon below A copy will be sent to you without charge

PAGE FOUR — MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 14, 1948

The New England maple yield is reported poor again this year—indicating a sap shortage in an election year.

With the coming of spring many people seem to be turning a garden over in their minds—and one cynic expresses fear that it will probably end there.

A Pennsylvania congressman calls for repeal of the 20 per cent excise tax on fur coats, "because they are a necessity"—which would sound more convincing if it had come from the Duluth sector.

Communist Tactics Used In Bogota

DECISION of delegates to the Inter-American conference to carry on their discussions in Bogota despite the Colombian revolution was the only reasonable action that could be taken. The communists who inspired the revolution obviously intended that it should break up the conference.

Such tactics follow the Communist party line of creating confusion and disruption to all orderly processes of government and international co-operation wherever possible. Reds and pinks throughout the world would have chuckled gleefully if Secretary of State Marshall and the others had packed up their portfolios and gone home. There probably would have been repercussions even in Italy, where the communists could have pointed out: "See how helpless the democracies are in their own stronghold of the western hemisphere."

North Americans have long ago given up hope for understanding the intricacies of internal politics in Latin America. The United States seeks to be a good neighbor but it does not interfere in local matters.

The communists do not hesitate to interfere. Hundreds have died in Bogota, many have been injured. A fine city has been badly damaged in its downtown sector. The people have been made hungry. Total result is that a coalition government has been formed. Such a result could certainly have been achieved without bloodshed if the "outs" were strong enough to threaten the office tenure of the "ins"—by whatever labels they are called.

Yet the revolution was started by an assassination and it was so timed that it could disrupt the attempt of Pan-American nations to sit down together and work out their problems peacefully and helpfully.

Indeed, the only answer is for the conference to proceed, even if military assistance is necessary from other Pan-American nations to preserve the peace.

When Voluntary Enlistments Fall Short

CONGRESS has started work on a temporary draft law to provide a means by which the armed services can be brought up to and kept at their authorized strength. Although there still is considerable resistance to the proposal, both houses are embarked upon serious consideration of it.

There is little time before the coming of the election-year summer, when small accomplishment can be expected. Even if Congress remains in session, many congressmen will yield to the urge for political fence-mending. In this shortening time other important defense measures also require attention. Congress is being pressed for more funds to expand the Air Force, for more merchant ships, for expansion of the Army and Navy if the Air Force is enlarged, so as to keep the three services in balance, for new studies of industrial capacity for military purposes.

These matters vie with the draft proposal for the attention of Congress. Yet the draft is a practical prerequisite to any expansion of the military forces. The services have not been able to maintain present authorized strength from voluntary enlistments, and it does not seem reasonable to suppose that men sufficient to fill the needs of expanded services will volunteer.

'Optional' Takes New Meaning

"OPTIONAL" used to mean something you could take or leave. Now it signifies something you must take, whether you like it or not.

The term is now applied to unwanted extra equipment on new cars. Many buyers are finding that in addition to the high price they are paying for a new automobile, several hundred dollars has been added for all sorts of gadgets. Some, like seat covers and heaters, most buyers will want. A car radio, on the other hand, is a feature which the purchaser who has to count his pennies may feel that he can do without.

The dealer is in the saddle just now. The implication, sometimes frankly expressed, is that the buyer should put up or shut up. It will not always be like this. Some dealers may later wonder if they were wise to be so brash.

Scotland Turns To Own Betterment

THE STURDY Scots, whose industry, energy, and thrift have made them valuable immigrants to this country and Canada, are staying at home this year and using their abilities for the development of Scotland.

Their government is building large factories and bending every effort to fill them with constructive industries. Conditions are made easy for establishing businesses, and workers are plentiful and energetic. The idea is to furnish jobs for everyone and to raise the standard of living.

Scotland has provided a beautiful and romantic background for ballad and story for hundreds of years as well as being a great builder of ships, weaver of textiles and worker in many other fields. This new influx of industry will make the country more comfortable and prosperous.

Washington Calling

Weak Spots In U. S. Intelligence Service

By MARQUIS CHILDS

BLOODY revolution is part of the fabric of Latin-American politics. But such revolutions do not just happen suddenly and for no reason at all.

They grow out of long-smouldering resentments and conflicts, sparked by leaders whose aims and ambitions are fairly well known. Over the ashes of tragic Bogota is a towering question mark.

Were American officials sufficiently well informed about the explosive potentialities in Columbia? A number of other related questions occur, but that one is paramount.

For the first time in its history, this country has a central intelligence agency. The agency, under the direction of Admiral R. K. Hillenkoetter, has its own staff of agents. In addition, it coordinates the intelligence reports of the departments of state and national defense, the Atomic Energy Commission and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Although outsiders can know almost nothing of its work, the hopeful impression prevails that Washington is for the first time equipped to learn what is about to happen well in advance of its happening.

There is evidence, however, that the cloak and dagger atmosphere cloaks, in some instances at least, the kind of knowledge that an earnest reader could obtain in the Library of Congress.

One of the civilians entitled to receive and read the intelligence agency's top secret reports gets a lot of laughter out of the privilege.

He has become accustomed to the kind of anti-climax that bursts with the fury of a child's popgun.

Here is an example: A heavily-armed messenger of the intelligence agency arrives with a top secret document. It can be delivered only into the official's hands. The seals must be broken in the presence of the armed messenger and the official.

If the official should decide to take it home and read it overnight, being a busy and hard-pressed man, then an armed guard would have to patrol his house during the night. He examines the document and finds it is a copy of a report printed in London and available to a fairly sizeable number of readers.

* ** *

FBI Warnings Ignored.

IT IS understandable that a brand new intelligence agency cannot achieve perfection overnight. Years of experience and development are necessary to round out such an organization.

At one point, however, a matter of elementary cooperation would bring a decided improvement. This is the point at which internal security and foreign intelligence meet.

Under the law, the FBI is responsible for internal security. This covers sabotage, with all its new and terrifying possibilities in bacterial and atomic death. But the authority of the FBI ends at the water's edge where central intelligence and the Army and Navy take over.

Coordination is not good. I have learned of specific examples where it has failed and where the failure could be serious.

During the war and in the events that led up to war, the Army and Navy tended to treat the FBI like a dubious stepchild. For example, the Navy had specific information about the landing of two enemy agents in New England.

This information was not passed along to the FBI for ten days and then only in a vague and guarded form, although detection and capture of the agents was the job of the FBI.

A glaring example came to light in the Pearl Harbor investigation. The FBI in Hawaii, and the FBI alone, monitored a telephone call from Honolulu to Tokyo on Dec. 6. This revealing conversation, with its thinly disguised references to a major event to come, was passed on to both Army and Navy commanders. It was ignored.

The very fact of an arbitrary separation between domestic security, on the one hand, and foreign intelligence and security, on the other, is dangerous in the face of the threat of world communism. That jealousies should hamper cooperation is fantastic at this moment in history.

Military policy-makers say the field of internal security is "under study." There is little time left for study. We need, and quickly, an efficient, mature agency that can bring together all sources of information and analyze them promptly. The kind of explosion that occurred in Bogota should not come as a surprise.

DeWitt Mackenzie's Column

'Subsidy' Means Control

SOMETIMES it does seem as though our cantankerous old world had reversed itself and was spinning us back into the Middle Ages.

With totalitarianism perched like a carrion crow on the backs of many stricken countries, we now have the unhappy spectacle of the United Nations conference on freedom of information at Geneva adopting a resolution in favor of permitting government subsidies for national news agencies.

A subsidized press is a shackled press.

To be sure only 21 of the some half hundred delegations voted, the result being 16 to 5 in favor of the resolution. Both the United States and Russia voted against it, though just why the Muscovites should oppose it isn't clear, since the press in their country is ruled with an iron hand. Of course the resolution carries no authority and is merely an expression of opinion, but unfortunately it does represent retrogression.

There is no such thing as a subsidized national news agency in the United States, but during many years of newspaper work abroad I've encountered plenty of them. In fact, the free agencies have been the exception to the rule.

Governments don't subsidize news agencies for purely altruistic reasons, and the minute an agency accepts such a gratuity it ipso facto commits itself to serve the donor. True, the government may not be exacting in its demands for space and may allow the agency a free hand with news in which the state isn't interested.

But where the government has a special interest it will summon reporters from the agency and hand them such "news" as officialdom wishes circulated for propaganda value. Frequently, too, the government will suppress news which it doesn't wish published.

* * *

News "Colored" to Suit.

THEN there are peculiar complications in countries that have constitutions under which governments can be kicked out of office at any time by an adverse majority in parliament.

The subsidized agency has to change the color of its news, like a chamelon on a variegated wall, to suit the hue of the new government. Today the government is leftist, tomorrow it's middle-of-the-road, and the next day it's to the right. What is "news" today isn't "news" tomorrow because the government has changed.

Times without number I've not only seen agencies suppress legitimate news at government order, but submit news to officialdom to make sure that nothing the government didn't like was published.

I've known an agency representative with a high sounding title to be called in by government officials day after day and given dictation which he took in shorthand and rushed back to his office to put on the wires.

Such canned "news" frequently is calculated to mislead foreign countries, but it generally misleads its own people at the same time.

There is no greater threat to good understanding among peoples than subsidized "news." There is no better aid to peace than a free press which cultivates real acquaintance between nations.

There can be no freedom of information if there is any form of government control beyond that provided by laws dealing with libel and the like. There can be no subsidy without a corresponding governmental interference with the press.

Subsidy is a dolled up term for a bribe. If an individual newspaperman were given money to publish propaganda, that would be a bribe (and I've heard of offers as high as $400,000 being rejected). If a national agency is given money by a government, it's a subsidy. But from where I sit they look as much alike as two peas in a pod.

Lewis Seemed Surprised, But Wasn't

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Here is the inside story of what happened when Speaker Joe Martin summoned John L. Lewis and operator-spokesman Ezra Van Horn to his office to hear some "suggestions" about ending the coal dispute.

When the two visitors sat down, the speaker began: "I have a proposal that I believe will be beneficial to both sides, and particularly to the country, in getting the mines back to work. I know you are both reasonable men and want to see this strike settled as much as we all do.

"Gentlemen, we can't let it continue any longer. We cannot permit our factories to close for lack of coal and we can't stand a transportation shortage if we are to fulfill our obligations to our own people and to the world under the European aid program."

Martin paused briefly to let this sink in, then added:

"We've got to sit down like Americans and keep right on sitting until we reach an agreement. This will mean some sacrificing on both sides, but that's the way we do things in a democracy. I have to make concessions all the time on legislation before the Congress. No man makes more concessions than I do.

"With communists spreading terror in other parts of the world, I want to remind you that we in this country are not even safe from totalitarianism unless we keep our guard up and our factories running at top production. I don't want to sound pessimistic, but that's a possibility.

"As long as one major industry is closed down — especially the coal industry, which affects our whole economy—we are endangering not only our own country at a time when we can least afford it, but also the peace of the world."

* * *

Lewis Chews Cigar.

LEWIS and Van Horn sat silently through Martin's patriotic appeal, taking it all in, but waiting for the other to say something. Lewis chewed imperturbably on an unlighted cigar. Martin continued:

"Now, I am going to propose to you a man whom I hope you will accept as a public trustee for the purpose of negotiating your dispute. I have been talking to him about this for the last week and he has agreed to serve if you want him. He's a man of judicial temperament, who hasn't involved himself in this dispute and who has the respect of people generally. He can be counted on to be fair.

"I am referring to Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire."

Lewis pretended to look surprised, started to say something, then changed his mind. John L. is a great actor. He not only quotes Shakespeare, but acts Shakespeare. So probably coal-operator-spokesman Van Horn did not know that just one year ago Lewis had proposed Senator Bridges to Secretary of the Interior Krug as the man to arbitrate the coal dispute between the government and the miners.

In other words, the look of surprise on Lewis's face was only feigned. He had known in advance that his friend, Senator Bridges, was to be proposed as umpire by Speaker Martin. That was why he came to the meeting so readily.

That was also why Martin didn't have to do any real urging.

"Come on, now," he pretended to urge, "What do you say?"

"That sounds all right to me," replied the miners' boss. "I'll accept him."

Martin looked at Van Horn.

"I'll take him," quickly added the operator-spokesman.

"Now that we have agreed," Martin suggested. "Why not elect him right here on the spot? You can do so, as the other two trustees."

* * *

Flies to Washington.

MARTIN then put in a long-distance phone call to Bridges in New York, who informed the speaker that he was scheduled to make an address at a "Freedom Rally" in New York the following afternoon (Sunday, April 11) and wouldn't be back in Washington until Monday.

"Can't you do better than that?" inquired Martin. "Time is essential."

"All right. I'll fly down tonight (Saturday) and return by plane tomorrow in time to keep my engagement, if a meeting can be arranged Sunday morning," replied Bridges.

"Tell him that, as chairman of the board of trustees, I'm perfectly willing to call a meeting of the board tomorrow morning," intoned Lewis, who has been jittery about his court battle.

"Fine," responded Martin. "Let's make it 10 o'clock tomorrow morning."

The meeting then adjourned.

Symington "Speaks Out."

SECRETARY for Air Stuart Symington reversed his stand on universal military training when he faced the Senate armed services committee behind closed doors the other day, and made a desperate plea instead for a strong air force. His boss, Defense Secretary Forrestal, scowled on and said little.

The meeting was of vital interest to every man who may have to serve in the armed forces, and to every other American concerned with the defense of his country. For the first time in a recent Senate committee hearing, Forrestal gave his subordinate, the head of the air forces, free reign to speak out. Symington made the most of it.

Ever since the meeting of defense chiefs at Key West, it had been susepcted that Navy and Army ground forces had held the air forces down in over-all defense planning. This was confirmed by Symington in last week's testimony.

In forceful language, he warned that it might already be too late to build up the air force before Russia got the atomic bomb.

"We said three years ago that your air force was going to hell, we said it again two years ago and we say this year that it is going to hell," blistered Symington. "We say this year that no matter how you try to fix it, you are not going to have an adequate air force by the time the Russians have the bomb. It is too late."

Catching the full glare of Forrestal's withering look he tactfully added:

"Mr. Forrestal said we could say what we felt."

"It is true," Symington continued, "that we testified for universal military training. We did that before we knew the air force was going to be cut. We felt it would be a 70-group program."

TVA Expansion Opposed

AFTER thrusts at various salients, noted here from time to time, the private utilities have opened a frontal attack on the great bulwark and successful model of public power development—TVA.

The object is to prevent expansion of facilities needed to provide additional power essential to the Tennessee Valley.

Those in other parts of the country who enjoy cheap rates from public power projects, either directly or because of their competitive influence — and this includes numerous industries — are being kept in the dark about this attack. It will affect them eventually if successful, for the utility high command is behind this maneuver.

It is all being done secretly—or in executive session, as we call it here — in a House appropriations subcommittee and in violation of the reorganization act in which Congress decreed that appropriations committee hearings should be public and not secret as in the past.

This secrecy offers an effective screen behind which special interests can and do operate so that the public does not find out what happens until it is too late.

As has been explained before, special interests can exploit the appropriations procedure to cripple or kill projects previously established by Congress in the public interest. If they can reduce or stop appropriations, then they can damage or abolish such projects by the familiar "starving-out" process. This trick has been tried often, and has worked quite frequently, in this 80th Republican Congress.

The utilities know this. They have smart operators in this city. So now, behind the protection of secrecy, we find them moving against TVA in their combined might through the National Association of Electric companies whose president and guiding spirit, Purcell L. Smith, is generally reported to be the highest paid lobbyist in Washington.

He appeared before the House appropriations subcommittee on government corporations to oppose inclusion of an item of $4,000,000 in the government corporation supply bill to begin work on a steam power plant at New Johnsonville, Tenn., which was recommended by President Truman in his budget message as a necessary adjunct to the TVA system to meet rapidly expanding power requirements.

* * *

More Power Needed.

A POWER shortage is already evident in the area, not only for household, but also for industrial consumers, the latter including industries that were established during the last war for aluminum, phosphorus, nitrates and atomic energy and are part of our national defense system.

The need for additional power has been stressed by the 140 municipalities and consumer cooperatives in the area which jointly own the $160,000,000 distributing facilities through which TVA power, which they purchase, is taken to consumers.

Huge industrial enterprises, such as Aluminum Company of America and Monsanto Chemical at the Oak Ridge atomic plants, are disturbed by the utility fight on the New Johnsonville steam plant.

While much has been done through TVA to provide power for development of the Tennessee Valley, a great deal still needs to be done. For example, only about half of the farms are yet electrified, which compares with 90 per cent in some other states.

All that Mr. Smith told the subcommittee will not be known, unfortunately, until the hearings are published eventually, long after his appearance and simultaneously with presentation of the government corporation bill to the floor, as is the usual custom, and when it is too late for the public to learn what was done.

Unless the friends of TVA and public power assert themselves, the utilities threaten to get away with this coup which would set a precedent to check expansion of other great public power projects. For Republicans on the subcommittee, who outvote the Democrats—as they do in the full committee and in the House, itself—are reported ready to yield to the utilities and squelch the appropriation for the New Johnsonville steam plant.

Preserving Native Music.

If there is any one kind of musical endeavor unmistakably indigenous to this country it is the unaccompanied blending of male voices in close harmony singing in what has become known as "barbershop" style.

Other nations have produced fine male ensembles. Some of them sing in close harmony. But they don't have the "swipes." They don't have the fine flair for improvisation.

Above all, they don't have the barbershop tunes which are traditional favorites. Imagine the Don Cossacks or a troupe of Swiss yodelers or English madrigal singers trying to do justice to "Sweet Adeline" or "I Had a Dream, Dear!"

The Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Singing in America was organized some years ago with the laudable aim of stimulating interest in this melodic form of Americana.—Columbus Dispatch.

Nun Works Wonders Fighting Cancer

By E. L. PRIZER

DETROIT —(AP)— With only faith and determination to go on, Sister Lorettamary Gibson founded a cancer hospital in a padlocked speakeasy in 1931

Today Detroit's determined cancer fighter has built the hospital, Mercy Hall, into a $500,000 institution

That's only the beginning, she says.

Now she's helping pioneer a program that will set a pattern for the nation—a plan to help average families cope with cancer. In the face of a disease that kills more than 188,000 yearly, costs tremendous sums for treatment and has no sure cure, the job is overwhelming.

But Sister Gibson hasn't a doubt she will succeed Her whole career has been full of events like this:

One hot summer day Mercy Hall did not even have the few pennies needed to buy lemons to make lemonade for the patients

Sister Gibson knelt and prayed "Within an hour," she says, "a lady stopped at the door and left a bag of lemons"

Or take the time she bought a new clinic Who would think of going to a real estate man and offering $150 down on a $75,000 building?

Sister Gibson did The astounded broker asked time to think it over

"But four days later he phoned up and accepted," she says. "In two years the building was paid for."

Such audacity, coupled with invincible faith has been behind almost every forward step for Mercy Hall

A plump blue-eyed nurse, she works around the clock managing the hospital and raising funds She wears the dark blue robes of the order of Sisters of Charity, but she's as tough as a two-fister executive when it comes to getting things done

DEFEATISM TABOO

"Ten per cent of those who come here to die walk out and go home," she says "We allow no defeatism Every case is treated as if it had never been diagnosed before"

Mercy Hall is a homey place painted in cheery colors, with large glass porches Organ music is piped to the rooms Patients are accepted regardless of race, creed or color

It is headquarters now for the administration of the National Cancer Foundation's new program in Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio. It's the first hospital to enter into the program.

Sister Gibson says the fact that 80 per cent of cancer cases die in poverty is proof that help is needed for middle-class families stricken with the disease That's the help the program aims to give.

It works this way:

Worthy advanced cancer patients in the four-state area are admitted to Mercy Hall They pay what they can The foundation foots the rest of the bill with funds raised in the patients' home states

What it may do eventually for thousands of families who would go hopelessly into debt paying for treatment can't be estimated.

A little nurse with a broad Irish chin is going to see that it does plenty. She's already working on plans to build a new $4,000,000 hospital.

How to pay for it?

"I bank in the Bank of Heaven."

MRS. CHARLES CHEW, Highland avenue, entertained members of the Linnaeus Garden club at luncheon Tuesday. Several papers were presented by club members after the meeting was opened with the reading of the Garden Club Prayer by Mrs. Vale Scouten.

Mrs. M. T. Brinkerhoff gave a paper on "Sweet William." She explained that this perennial is one of the easiest flowers to cultivate and that it is an early bloomer. It also re-seeds itself.

"Romance for Your Garden" was the subject of the paper given by Mrs. C. K. Smaltz. She named six varieties of geraniums along with herbs, heliotrope and lemon vebena, all fragrant flowers which would lend a romantic atmosphere to a garden.

The conservation chairman, Mrs. Fred Dippman, listed a number of things that are being done to conserve the natural wild life in our country. She read the "Conservation Pledge" and the club voted to adopt it.

Mrs. Virgil Hartman's paper was entitled "Spring." She emphasized the need of spraying phlox, delphinium, roses and other early perennials as soon as they appear above the ground. She also gave tips on prescribed activities in early spring gardening.

"Fruit and Vegetable Arrangements" were discussed by Mrs. H. H. Clingan, who illustrated her talk with pictures. She explained that artistic arranging rather than a large collection of fruits and/or vegetables will make for an attractive effect.

Voice of Broadway

SPEAKING FOR MYSELF

As a fervent admirer of the human race, I must admit I am disturbed over Hollywood's growing tendency to snub the human animal in favor of other genera and species. The latest case in point is an item called "Bill and Coo" in which the producers saw fit to give the audiences the birds instead of such delightful male animals as Gregory Peck, Cary Grant and Gene Kelly. I daresay lots of customers like "Bill and Coo" and lots more were amused by it.

Me, I was frightened by it. Maybe I'm an alarmist, but it seems to me proof positive that Hollywood, that little sun-kissed atom bomb, is working overtime trying to eliminate people from the face of the earth.

There, I've said it—and I'm not the least bit glad.

This horrendous trend began innocently enough It started, I think, when a talented mouse named Mickey made his screen debut, and nibbled so successfully at audiences' collective funny-bones that he became a star. Mickey, that insidious borer-from-within, was soon joined by other such talented critters as a duck named Donald, a bunny named Bugs, and a pig named Porky. Since all these assorted fauna were strictly cartoon characters, the brainchildren born of the union of a bright idea with an ink bottle, they weren't so bad. For the future of huma ity, that is. But they were only the beginning, folks.

Hollywood's next step in undermining the supremacy of human beings came when the traitorous movie moguls began casting live animals in featured roles. A pert pooch named Asta began turning the charming "Thin Man" series into a bunch of shaggy dog stories.

A garrulous chimpanzee began stealing scenes right and left in all the Tarzan pictures, making Tarzan look like—well, let's face it—a monkey.

It was subtle propaganda, see?

Now with animals actually given starring roles over humans, the Day of Judgment definitely is on its way, if it hasn't already arrived. There's no denying the fact that Lassie, the dog with the debatable gender, is a bigger office draw than lots of two-legged actors I could name if I weren't so charitable. Bess, the horse, is considered so glamorous a personality that she's actually been sent on personal appearance tours, and Leo the Lion is one of the biggest (not to mention loudest) attractions on the MGM lot.

Animals have become so sought-after as stars that it won't be long, I'm sure, until no human thespian will be able to get a job in the movies unless he looks like a cocker spaniel.

I've always liked animals—that is, I did until they turned into a fifth column. I'll even go so far as to admit that some animal stars are a good deal more attractive and talented than certain human stars. But this thing is getting out of hand.

Please, can't someone — Eric Johnston, or Sam Goldwyn, or Frank Buck or the SPCA—do something to save human beings from oblivion?

It's hard for us pleasure-sated New Yorkers to realize,perhaps but there must be in this wide and beautiful country of our, thousands of innocent souls who don't know the first thing about the functionings of the Broadway theater. This truth was brought home to me the other day by a tale from the lips of John Tyers, the handsome young baritone who soon will be seen here in "Inside U.S.A.."

During the last war John, while serving in the Pacific, made friends with a young man I'll call Harry, because that's his name. Harry hailed from a whistle stop in Wyoming, and during a conversation with him John learned, to his surprise, that never in his life had Harry seen a play. Movies, yes—but no live actors, ever. John, who earns his bread and jam in the theater, was considerably unnerved by this information and promised to take care of the situation after they both got home.

Harry didn't take him up on it until a few months ago. Then he wrote John that he was getting married, and that he and his bride would be in New York for their honeymoon.

John arranged for tickets to the best drama in town. Harry and his equally innocent (theatrically speaking) bride sat breathless through the first act. At the end of it, Harry rose and began to help his wife into her coat. Then they started up the aisle with an air of people going home.

Amazed, John asked why they were leaving. Hadn't they liked the show?

"Oh, sure," Harry answered. "Gee, it's wonderful. But what's the point of hanging around any longer when we've seen it all already?"

And he pointed to a line in the program. It read: "Act Two. Scene: Same Act One."

For Thursday, April 15.

A PARTICULARLY clever and intelligent direction of the forces and faculties, with energy and initiative trained on major objectives, might be the means of promoting concrete and solid projects or propositions of constructive importance. But the mind must be led by logic and sound tactics, since confusion, complications and treachery might shatter the highest ambitions and defeat excellent work. Safeguard all avenues for duplicity and subtlety or intrigue.

Those whose birthday it is have an excellent chance for putting over important projects or plans, by a keen, sound and intelligent use of the forces and faculties. With clear prudent, well-executed plans and techniques, it may be possible to circumvent schemes, trickery, betrayal and all manner of undercover tactics for shattering sound ideas and major objectives. Confusions wavering, pernicious involvements, could have power to undermine the best-laid plans. Real loss could be due to bad management and duplicity.

A child born on this day has excellent prospects and talents for progress and success. But it may have "blind spots" or become engulfed in confusion, sinister plots or intrigue.

Asks Safety Instruction In Schools

Governor Proposes Training Courses

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert thinks courses to stress elimination of safety hazards should be made a part of the program in Ohio schools.

He told the All Ohio Safety congress last night that already 140 Ohio high schools are teaching driver training. This program began for a suggestion at last year's safety congress.

One thousand delegates heard the governor and other speakers discuss several phases of safety yesterday. By the end of the Congress on Thursday, 150 will have had their say on all safety angles.

Governor Herbert listed four basic elements to a successful safety program:

Scientific research to eliminate hazards, adequate regulations to insure safety precautions, impartial and continuous law enforcement.

J. E. Trainer of Akron, vice president of the Firestone Tire & Rubber company told delegates that woolgathering by workers caused many industrial accidents.

"I am convinced," he said, "that hundreds of accidents can be definitely blamed on preoccupation. "It is amazing how these mental lapses can lead to an accident. The mind is working all right, but on some other subject."

The answer, Trainer said, was development of safe working habits. With safe operation made habitual, the worker can more safely rely on his subconscious automatic work, he said.

More consideration should be given disabled persons, said Dr. C. R. Shook of Toledo in another talk. He is medical director of the industrial relations division at Owens-Illinois Glass company in Toledo.

Many industrial plants now will not hire a handicapped person solely because if you hire a person who has previously suffered the loss of an eye, leg or arm, and this unfortunate individual loses the opposite member, then management may be forced to pay for the sum total of both losses," the doctor said.

He urged correction of this ruling and the hiring of more handicapped persons.

Will Deliver Invocation

Paul Ritchie, clerk of municipal court and state prelate of the Ohio Moose association, will deliver the invocation Sunday at the spring conference of Ohio Moose in Columbus.

Other Mansfield Moose who will attend are Edmund T. Pelasky, governor-elect of the Ohio Moose; Jacob Herf, junior governor; Vern Brandenburg, prelate; Earl McFarland, deputy governor; and Cloyd Wykcoff, president of the Fifth Ohio district.

Ritchie and McFarland also will attend the Saturday advisory board meeting.

Governor Thomas J. Herbert will deliver the welcoming address.

Casey Ends Prison Term

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The justice department said today that Eugene Casey, one-time aide to the late President Roosevelt, was released from federal prison farm at Petersburg, Va., on March 17.

Casey was convicted in Baltimore last year of evading more than $70,000 in income tax payments from 1941 to 1943. He was sentenced to six months in prison and was fined $30,000. He began his prison term on last Oct. 17.

Justice department officials said that under the law Casey was entitled to a one-month reduction in sentence for good behavior.

CENTENNIAL HAT—Men of Morrow county will go "big hat" Saturday. Mayor Ray Bennington of Mt. Gilead (above) has proclaimed April 17 as the official day on which all male citizens of the county should don plainsman type headpieces. The hat bears a purple and white band reading: "Morrow county centennial celebration, July 3, 4 and 5." The three-day celebration at the fairgrounds in Mt. Gilead will feature a five-mile long parade, a horse show, historical pageant, antique exhibits and displays of old machinery and equipment.

City to Join Observance Of Air Mail

Mansfield is expected to join in the national celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of the U. S. Air Mail service May 15-21.

Curtis L. Ford, acting postmaster, said today he is awaiting word from Washington on local celebration plans.

Mansfield received its first direct air mail service last fall when the Trans World Airline started serving the municipal airport. Before that, air mail dispatched from Mansfield was taken to Cleveland or some other large city before being placed on a plane.

Approximately 1,500 pounds of air mail now is shipped by TWA from Mansfield's municipal airport monthly and about 2,000 pounds are flown in.

Air mail service reaches every corner of the world, speeding communications in hours that 30 years ago took days and sometimes weeks.

Night flying, navigation, landing aids and airplane development were hastened immeasurably, because of the faith of postal officials in the belief that air service should and would become an important part of postal communication facilities.

Restaurant Men Study Food Costs

Meeting Opens In Cleveland

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—The nation's top restaurant operators assembled here today to discuss the same problem confronting the nation's housewives—how to beat the high cost of food.

In their case, however, the problem must be multiplied by 60,000,000—the number of meals served daily in the nation's restaurants.

An estimated 16,000 eating-place proprietors and food industry leaders were on hand for the opening of the National Restaurant association convention which runs through Saturday.

The convention is the biggest ever held by the food industry, with 300 exhibits and numerous technical parleys scheduled.

Ralph Peterson, spokesman for the association, said methods of making a profit despite soaring food prices will be the main topic in the sessions.

In normal times, he said, 40 per cent of a restaurant's gross go for food costs and 25 per cent for labor. Today, he said, food costs have risen to 55 per cent.

Add to that "highly" increased rents, and labor costs and the answer is "find a way to beat costs or go out of business," Peterson said.

Three such methods will be discussed:

1. More efficient operation.
2. Replacement of human workers with machines.
3. Training better employes.

The wartime habit of eating out has fallen off slightly but is still above pre-war, Peterson said. He added that volume of business in eating-places remains 20 per cent higher than it was before the war. Some 5,000,000 meals a day less are being served now than were placed before patrons during the war.

He said most restaurants are counting on the high volume of business to make a profit. But even so, inefficiency can knock that out, he added.

Restaurant operators, Peterson said, are reluctant to cut the size of portion or quality of service to compensate for the costs. That would cut the volume quicker than anything else, the spokesman said.

"It all boils down to the fact that we must have more efficient operating procedures, Peterson said.

Jury Clears Truck Driver

ASHLAND — The Ashland county grand jury has cleared Valion R. Jordan, 21-year-old Illinois truck driver, of manslaughter charges.

The charges were filed after the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Liggett of Columbus whose automobile was involved in a collision with Jordan's truck.

The jury suggested that the state highway department establish a lower rate of speed at the approach to the intersection where the accident occurred. They also asked that suitable signs be placed designating the intersection and the allowable rate of speed.

'Don't Save On Schools,' Asks Brown

Coach Urges Top Pay to Teachers

Paul Brown, coach of the Cleveland Browns' pro football team, yesterday tossed a word of advice to a combined meeting of Rotary and Kiwanis club members in the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

"Don't," Brown pleaded, "try to save money on schools and see how economically they can be run. Pay good salaries to good teachers, and build quality. It is money well spent because it is spent on the youth of the city."

Brown, former coach at Massillon high and later at Ohio State university and now regarded as one of the top coaches in America, made it plain that he feels any money spent in schools is worthwhile, regardless of whether or not it is spent on sports.

SCHOOLS VITAL

"Schools are vital to a small community. We grown-ups rally around the flag but youngsters rally around their school, which is the most important thing in their lives. Give them something to be proud of," he continued, "and try to give them the best. Give our youngsters every opportunity you can give them."

Brown, touching on the so-called "battle" between colleges and professionals for the following of football fans during the football seasons, made it plain he feels there are enough ticket-buying fans for both.

"College football is not disintegrating, and neither is pro football. There is no backward movement, and both are getting stronger," he assured the overflow crowd of civic leaders.

"I should be the last one to say it, but the way to lick the pros if the colleges want to lick them is to get strong collegiate teams in the population centers of the country. Look at Chicago. The University of Chicago quit football and now Chicago is a stronghold of pro football.

NEW YORK CITY, TOO

"Fordham and New York U used to be ranked with the best of the college teams, but they slid to second rate collegiate football powers, and the pros moved in and have firm footing in New York.

"There are no major college teams in Washington and the Washington Redskins pack 'em in for pro football, just as there is no major college team in Cleveland and we do all right in pleasing the fans. The pros flourish when there is no major college competition," he added, "but there is room for both.

"In fact, we want the college football game to thrive. After all it is our (the professional) farm system."

Brown pulled no punches regarding his own ideas in winning and losing.

MEN WANT TO WIN

"I don't permit much to stand in my way when it comes to winning," he boldly asserted. "I stand for no dirty football, but we of the Browns' coaching staff have our men ready and wanting to win. It's quite important. And, if a coach wants to impress his fans I can think of no better method than in winning football games."

Brown, making his second talk here in as many days, he also spoke at the Elks club open house Monday night, lauded Augie Morningstar and the city of Mansfield.

"If I were to return to high school coaching, I know of no better town than Mansfield," he assured his listeners. "It is the right size. It has a variety of industry. And the people are the type I like. They are aggressive and helpful to a coach.

"And you have a good coach here in Augie Morningstar. He's one of my boys from Massillon high, and he'll give you good interesting teams. Give him your support. Neither he — nor the team—can do much without your help."

SLIDE RULE FIGURES BONUS—A member of the Ohio Bonus Commission at Columbus has developed this slide rule to figure the amount of bonus to be paid to veterans. The calculator was invented by A. G. Dierks of Columbus. By matching the months and days a veteran entered and left the service and the time he spent overseas the answer is readily and accurately at hand. In the photo the left column is for the month service was terminated. The next column is the month service began. Match those months and the total pay for domestic and foreign service appears at the window below. The two columns at right are for figuring the odd days each veteran is entitled pay. The calculator cuts the examining and auditing time by one half.—(Associated Press photo)

Discrimination Charge Denied

COLUMBUS—(INS)—State bonus headquarters today denied charges of discrimination against navy veterans in the processing of claims.

The Ohio squadron of the Navy club of the United States, meeting in Ashtabula, passed a resolution charging the bonus commission with "by-passing" naval claims in favor of army petitioners.

Mel Kock, public relations director for the bonus headquarters, stated that all claims, regardless of branch of service, were being taken in order. He stated:

"We are doing each day's business before we start the next day's. There is no discrimination against navy applications.

"We are processing navy claims separately, but simultaneously."

Bogota Revolt Still Unexplained; Parley Diplomats Face Difficulty

ON THE CAUSES of the disaster in Bogota there is yet nothing to say because nothing is as yet known, nor do we know what connection, if any, there was between the explosion in the streets and the issues which the conference was trying to resolve.

There may be no more connection than there is between the story of a play and an accidental fire which burns down the theater in which it is being acted.

But it may be that this is a warning of how thin is the crust of our civilization and how violent the passions beneath.

The course of the conference, before it was so brutally disrupted, gave strong indication that with the accepted diplomatic formulae it is not possible to reconstruct, stabilize and consolidate that part of western civilization which was least ravaged by the war and is the least threatened today.

★

Secretary Marshall was finding it extraordinarily difficult to reconcile our commitments in Europe with the commitments our Latin-American neighbors believe to be inherent in the inter-American system.

The conference showed, so I venture to think, that the United States and the Latin American republics, despite all their traditional bonds, do not constitute a viable community in the modern world, and that their problems are becoming progressively more insoluble within the confines of the western hemisphere.

The real community, to which we all belong, was not truly represented at Bogota. The geographical boundaries of the conference were on the Canadian frontier and in the Atlantic Ocean.

These are artificial boundaries. For in their strategical defense, in their economy, in their cultural connections, the Latin-American republics and the United States are not a self-contained community of states. They are part of that large community of which Canada, Europe and Africa are integral parts, and none of the great issues of security and reconstruction is soluble except within the framework of this larger community.

The two world wars of this century, and all the measures that have to be taken against a third, have demonstrated conclusively that the nations from the Canadian border to Cape Horn are not in themselves a strategical system. The American have had to be defended in Europe and Africa by Americans in alliance with Europeans.

After both wars the Bogota nations have been unable to recover and achieve a stable prosperity separately.

The true economic connections do not run north and south in this hemisphere but are triangular and multilateral around the great basin of the Atlantic Ocean.

★

The failure to recognize the artificiality of the inter-American system and the reality of the Atlantic community was the underlying cause of the deep trouble in which the conference was laboring when it was so violently interrupted.

We are in the formative stages of one of the great historic enterprises of modern times—the construction of new political community made up of the older nations of Europe and the new nations which are descended from them—all of them the heirs and all of them the bearers of the same civilization.

Except as the American republics join together in this grand enterprise, they will not be united among themselves.

Water Bond Change Gets Council OK

Revision Designed To Save City $5,000

City council last night authorized a change in the maturity and interest payment dates of the $1,200,000 second mortgage revenue bond issued for the completion of the Clear Fork water works project. The change will effect a saving for the city of $5,000.

The ordinance approved on April 6 authorizing the clerk of council to advertise for bids on the bonds was repealed and the new one was adopted without delay.

By changing the maturation and payment dates from June and December to April and October, the city, in effect, will borrow the $1,200,000 for a two-month shorter period and hence save the $5,000 in interest.

The bids will be opened at the regular council meeting May 4.

The money will be used to build a filtration plant, low-lift pumping station at the site of the Clear Fork Dam and a raw water pipe line to transport the water from the dam to the filtration plant.

Council also appropriated $500 from the general fund to a special fund to repair and replace several damaged or stolen parking meters.

For stationary and printing costs of the water department, council appropriated $475.

Butler Seeks Crossings

Council Will Meet On Railroad Hazard

Seeking protected grade crossings in the village of Butler, the village council will hold a special meeting Friday night to consider simplifying the congested street and rail crossing in the center of the village.

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said the council intends to appoint a committee to confer with Baltimore and Ohio railroad officials and county commissioners.

"The village council has asked for flashers at the crossing," "Rusk said," but the B. and O. people said the crossing was too complicated as it is, but that flashers would be installed if the village 'simplifies' the crossing by eliminating one or more streets which intersect it."

At present, three principal streets in the village—Main, Union and Newville—intersect the railroad at a central point. Sunday's flash flood washed out the concrete bridge on Union street—"most logical street to cut off now" according to the county engineer.

Rusk added that construction may be held off on the Union street bridge until the village council decides what is to be done on the grade crossing problem. The bridge is the joint responsibility of the village and the county.

Lions to Hear Judge

Judge Stuart H. Cramer will address Lions club members at 7 p. m. today at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. The program, in charge of Ralph Juniper, will include a demonstration of the projected book machine. The meeting has been scheduled for 7 p. m.

POLITICAL PALAVER—When Young Democrats of Richland county gathered at Liberty park last night, this group was at the speakers' table. Standing, left to right, Robert W. Levering, Mt. Vernon attorney campaigning for nomination as Democratic congressman from the seventeenth district; William A. Calhoun, Mansfield, president of the Richland County Young Democrats association; P. P. Van Schoik, from the state auditor's office in Columbus, and Thomas Mulcahy, candidate for nomination as state treasurer. Seated, left to right, Mrs. Robert Levering and Mrs. William Calhoun. Dems Told Truman Follows FDR Ideals

If Franklin Delano Roosevelt were still president, he would be doing exactly the things Harry S. Truman is doing O. P. Van Schoik, member of the state auditor's staff in Columbus, told Richland county Young Democrats last night. He spoke at a Jefferson day dinner at Liberty park.

"The Democratic party is the fighting party, especially when the fighting is to be done for the people," Van Schoik said. "Thomas Jefferson thought of the people—the masses—and he felt they should have a voice in the government."

The meeting drew about 125 members in spite of a steady rain. William A. Calhoun, Mansfield, president of the Richland County Young Democrats, was in charge.

Van Schoik pictured Jefferson as one of the all-time greats in American history.

"Jefferson fought for the little fellow, just as the Democratic party of today stands for the great masses of American people," he said.

The speaker then brought his subject down to state and Richland county politics. He rapped Senator John Bricker, who, Van Schoik said, "has been in public office all but two years since 1921, when he got out of college."

"Richland county," Van Schoik pointed out, "would have been much better off under George White. In fact the schools of Richland county would have had $984.00 more and the county $656,000 more under the Democratic plan than under the present set-up.

"The state and county must work hand in hand for each other and not for any pressure group."

Thomas Mulcahy of Cleveland, candidate for the nomination for state treasurer, gave a short talk, and Robert W. Levering, Mt. Vernon, seeking the nomination as Democratic candidate for congress in the 17th district, told of the famous Death March of Bataan. Levering was a civilian prisoner of war for three years, after being captured by the Japs.

"Six years ago tonight," Levering related, "the Stars and Stripes were hauled down on Bataan. But we did not realize the terrible things in store for us for several days.

"What do our peace treaty writers know of the cruelty of the Japs? Did they see Americans buried alive along that march? Did they see 13,000 Americans die on that journey? And are we going to let it happen again?

"But I still have faith in our government. I believe now more than ever before that our government, based on the principle of human freedom, must carry on for the entire world. For the same reason I believe in the Democratic party—an organized party. We must win together."

Local candidates for office were introduced. The dinner was served by women employes at the courthouse.

Mrs. Lodge Heads P-TA

Mrs. Philip Lodge was elected president of Newman P-TA at the association's meeting last night.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hines was elected vice president and Mrs. Lelia Schambers, secretary - treasurer. Miss Marie Hoover, a teacher; Mrs. Sam Berman and Mrs. Charles Feerman were named to represent the association on the Mansfield P-TA council.

Stanley Kamen spoke on the city's summer recreation program. Plans, he said, will include crafts, music, art and athletics for children from pre-school to junior high school age at seven playgrounds.

The program included a vocal solo by Philip Stitzinger, an accarino solo by Mrs. Merle Secrist, and a reading by Kathleen Phieding. First grade pupils served refreshments under the supervision of their teacher, Miss Reba Robinson.

V. F. Zirkel Dies at 63

Valentine F. Zirkel, 63, of 335 Third avenue, died at General hospital Tuesday afternoon following a brief illness.

Born Nov. 6, 1884 in Hungary, Mr. Zirkel came to America about 35 years ago. He was an employe of the Hartman Electric company, working as a coil winder. He was a member of the GBU.

Surviving are his wife, Rosalie; two sons, Valentine jr., and William of Mansfield; six daughters, Mrs. Homer Ball, Mrs. Errett Clark and Mrs. Richard Welch of Mansfield, Mrs. Junior Shaffer of Lexington, Mrs. Elmer Hardin and Mrs. Theresa Stroup of Bellville, and 15 grandchildren.

Services will be held at the Wappner funeral home Friday at 1 p. m., in charge of Dr. Paul H. Saleste. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Simpson Times Honored Again

The John Simpson Times has won first class rating among junior high school papers throughout the country, John Damron, its editor-in-chief, said today.

The Times was judged excellent by the National Scholastic Press association which is affiliated with the University of Minnesota. Rating was based on all the papers on the 1947 season.

Earlier in the school year, the Times won second class rating in the Columbia School of Journalism contest. Mrs. Gladys F. Lane is adviser to staff members.

War Called Soil Killer

Ganyard Points Out Strain On Land

Another war may destroy the American farm lands for many years to come, George Ganyard, agricultural agent of Richland county, warned the Mansfield Exchange club at the weekly meeting in the Sky club yesterday.

Ganyard pointed out the strain the land takes in producing food for a nation at war and in helping to provide foreign countries with enough to eat.

Conservation of the soil is of prime importance, the speaker pointed out, if we are to continue to provide food, fibre, and materials so vitally needed both now and in the future.

Proper management, contour and strip farming, drainage, crop rotation ,and any other means to protect the land must be taken or the soil will be ruined, he pointed out.

The matter not only is vital to rural residents, but to every American, Ganyard assured his audience.

Four Pianists Play For 900

An estimated 900 persons were present at John Simpson auditorium last night for the second concert of two presented by the Mansfield Music Study club with four of the city's pianists as the concert artists.

The pianists were Mrs. Florence Lockshin, Mrs. Margaret Hall, Mrs. Marie Platt and Miss Thelma Reed. It was, as the night before, a brilliant performance

While the program [illegible] duplicated those played Monday night, one additional encore was added. Cole Porter's "Begin the Beguine" was so vigorously applauded that the four returned for another encore, Brahm's "Lullaby."

After the first number, each of the four pianists was presented with an orchid, a surprise tribute from the Mansfield branch of the American Federation of Musicians. Inclosed with each orchid was a certificate of honorary membership to the organization.

SUBSTITUTE—

Richland County Commissioner Guy Stewart wasn't playing deputy sheriff last night—he just didn't have another hat to wear. It seems that Stewart mislaid his chapeau at the Jefferson Day dinner at Liberty park. It wasn't to be found. So, being a resourceful fellow, Stewart donned the badged cap of a deputy sheriff and left to attend another meeting. P. S. If anybody finds a hat in the vicinity, Stewart will be happy to hear about it.

EMBARRASSING—

A messenger quietly left a note on the speakers' table at the Richland County Young Democratic meeting last night. William A. Calhoun, presiding officer, read the note aloud: "Will the party driving the car with license WU51 please remove his car. It is blocking traffic." A deputy sheriff, blushing to the roots of his hair, got up and headed for the door as the audience roared.

★

ELIMINATES DANGER—

W. S. Valmore, 81-year-old former Mansfielder now living in St. Petersburg, Fla., knew how to handle a dangerous situation recently. Valmore found a deadly coral snake in his back yard. He killed the snake which measured 35 inches, far longer than the average. Valmore owned a factory here before retiring to Florida.

★

RECORD PLANTING JOB—

A dozen Boy Scouts of troop No. 1 of Lucas, their scout master, E. R. Briner, and committee chairman, Rev. Ralph Chapman, did a record job of rose bush planting Saturday. In about two and a half hours, they planted more than 2,000 climbing rose bushes along the fences at Malabar farm. The bushes, furnished by Louis Bromfield, owner of Malabar farm, were planted primarily to afford protection for wild life on the farm. The farm covers more than 1,000 acres and fences around the place cover many miles.

P-TA Elects Mrs. Heilman

Mrs. Jane Heilman was elected president of the West Fifth school P-TA last night at its annual meeting in the school's clubroom.

Other officers elected for the coming year were Mrs. E. T. Hall, vice president; Miss Beatrice Colvin, secretary, and Mrs. W. B. Smith, treasurer.

Miss Margaret Rooney, executive secretary of Mansfield Girl Scouts, addressed the group on, "Aims and Objectives of Girl Scouting."

Miss Betty Lamberton presented a musical program with several selections on the accordion.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. William Holzmiller, Mrs. Robert Haerle and Mrs. Walter Wigton.

The newly-elected officers will conduct the next meeting on May 11.

Five Violators Fined By Court

Five traffic law violators were fined a total of $15 in municipal court today.

Kenneth C Tofman, Mt. Vernon, and Marshall Hettinger, Sunbury, were fined $10 and costs each on pleas of guilty to charges of speeding.

For operating a motor vehicle on more than one half of a highway, Arthur R. Adams, Detroit, was fined $10 and costs. Arthur F. Jarger, 45 West Fifth street, was fined the same amount for operating a motor vehicle on the left side of the highway.

William D. Washington, 542 Oakenwaldt avenue, was fined $5 and costs for failure to yield the right of way.

Bellville Reroutes Heavy Traffic

All heavy traffic coming into the village of Bellville has been re-routed over Mill road, County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said today. Mill road intersects Rinehart road, east of the village.

The re-routing was ordered, Rusk said, to eliminate strain on the Hines street bridge, leading from Rinehart road into the town. Recently passed legislation permits only passenger car traffic over the small bridge.

Council Studies Request

4 Departments Seek Increases

Wage increases ranging from 47 to 90 per cent were asked for city water, sewer, street and garbage department employes at a meeting of city council's salary committee last night.

The pay boost request was presented to the committee for its consideration after the heads of the several departments re-evaluated the various jobs on the basis of responsibilities involved.

A base of 1.0 for common laborers was established and the other jobs were rated on a point basis in relation to that base.

40-CENT BOOST ASKED

For common laborers, who now earn 85 cents an hour for a 44-hour week, a raise of 40 cents, to a $1.25 an hour was suggested.

Requests were made for increases for semi-skilled and skilled laborers at an increasing ratio.

The largest increase was asked for supervision personnel for whom a 90 per cent boost, from $210 to $400 a month, was suggested.

The 90 per cent figure represents the increase over base salary. The supervisors were granted a $25 a month bonus by city council last year, so that the actual percentage increase is approximately 78 per cent.

The council committee took the requests under advisement. It already is studying pay increase requests already made by the safety, (police and fire) personnel.

Street Jobs Given OK

Council Authorizes Two Projects

City council last night passed a resolution of necessity to pave a portion of Fairlawn avenue with the stipulation that the assessments for the work shall be levied in 10 annual installments, instead of the usual six.

The 10-year payment plan was instituted after the residents along the street petitioned council, asking extension of the payment period.

They said many of the home owners were veterans just getting started and they needed more time to pay.

The resolution, as originally written, called for a six-year payment period, as in the case of most of the other street improvement laws.

The resolution was up for consideration at the last Tuesday night meeting, but was held over to allow council to study the 10-year payment plan.

Council passed an ordinance to proceed with the paving of North Franklin avenue between the north end and East Sixth street and providing for the issuance of $7,000 in anticipation of the issuance of bonds and the collection of assessments on the work.

Flood Cause For Delay

A meeting of army and city officials to discuss the possibility of stationing the 164th Fighter squadron, Air National Guard at the Mansfield municipal airport was postponed today because Columbus military officials are tied up with emergency flood duty. The meeting had been set for tonight at the airport.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said the session would be postponed for a week to 10 days.

Otis Cummins, civilian chairman of the special ANG committee appointed by the mayor, said today he welcomed the meeting postponement.

"This gives us additional time to learn the approximate number of persons interested in serving with the ANG unit," he said.

Brig. Gen. E. H. Zistel, ANG, has stated that if the Army can be assured that the area can furnish the needed personnel, the unit with 342 men and officers and 35 planes, will be stationed in Mansfield

Cummins asked that all interested men between 18 and 46 contact the Chamber of Commerce in the Farmers Bank building, or call 1368-6

Previous experience will not be necessary except for officer-pilots.
